Deputy-reeve responds

Village council Deputy reeve Tom Barton responded to a question by Mrs Kay Peacock at the regular meeting of council on Tuesday, May 25, with a prepared statment about the Village Council's stand on the arena.

In the statement, Mr. Barton feels the blame for the problems at the arena has unjustly been put on the shoulders of the Madoc Village Council, adding that "Whatever Madoc did was exactly what the tri-councils moved and seconded and passed by majority vote."
He also states, "I have no

The following is a com-plete text of Mr. Barton's statement, which he asked to be recorded at the council

I have given considerable thought to the accusation the Madoc Council has caused a riff in this community which will take years to repair. These are the quotes from the chair-man of the Arena Board.

Mr. Pollock made the people at the open meeting feel quite confident that Madoc was to blame for the

The people at the open meeting would not let me explain the true facts. They listened and clapped when they were being told what they thought was gospel truth.

of being on the board from the conception. He should have been aware of the holdup because the canteen was not large enough, so we had to enlarge same to Ministry recommendations.

I took a stand on the skate sharpening machine be-cause I was aware of the problem from the beginning of construction and it was well known then because the work would have been held up if I had not signed the contract before the okay from the Ministry in writing. If I remember correctly, it took from one week to one and one half weeks to arrive. I will make a prediction that before long the canteen will not be large enough. I will gladly give $500 to anyone that can prove I did not follow tri-council in structions, other than give the lease to someone before council could see it. This is with the provision that they put up $500 saying they can prove I did not exactly do as the motions directed to me.

I believe, it is time for the concerned person who expressed his frustrations with what was taking place at the arena, before I was appointed as board member, before any tri-council meetings, to admit he wanted to wait until the ice was out before acting.

The people working on behalf of the supposedly behalf of the supposedly unjust treatment of the manager tried, and I might say, did a pretty good job of making the whole mess Madoc's representative's

Gypsy Moth spraying had been applied to avoid

If the weather cleared, no showers occurred and the wind died down, by the time wind died down, by the time this article gets into print the Gypsy Moth spraying of an infested area near Kaladar will have been completed.

As of mid-morning on Monday, only about two hours of spraying remained before the ministry of Natural Resources had completed two applications on B.T., the virus spray and one application of Sevin. Sevin spraying was com-pleted about one week ago. according to Wym Vonk of the Tweed Ministry of Natural Resources.

The remainder of the spraying was completed over the past weekend except for the last few acres. A news blackout that be lifted early this week. Athletes of Centre Hastings Secondary School were honored for their achieve ments last week and Tracey Deline and Ted Bergeron were named senior boy and girl athletes of the year while Patti Cook and John McEwen received the same honors at the junior level.

While a good crop of athletes for this year made the choices for top athletes of the year difficult in many cases, the winners of the top awards are easily sub-on their sports.

Ted Bergeron won offensive player honors on the football team, Bay of Quinte and COSSA

Tracey Deline led the cross country team and received MVP honors on that team as well as qualifying for the Regional track meet in Ottawa in both the 1,500 metre and 800 metre races

Patti Cook was chosen MVP for the junior girls COSSA champion in track and field in midget javelin

Bay of Quinte Champion ships were won by the wrestling team, junior girls volleyball team, senior girls volleyball team, the boys curling team (who also went on to win COSSA and came close to other provincial honors) and the track and field team, while placing second overall, had eleven team members win in-dividual championships with three new records at Bay of Quinte.

In at least two instances. MVP honors for a team were shared by two athletwhich is a indication of how tough the choices were this year.

Besides the athletes who were honored last week, cheerleaders were given an honorable mention for what was termed a 'thankless given gifts for Boosters of the Year and Janice Brinson and Leonard Hall shared the Wally Moffat Award for the greatest contribution to the athletic program.

As usual, Ray Twiddy and Bob Pesowski did a great job of capturing many of the highlights of the year in sports on film. The slides and music provided relaxing and nostalgic interludes in the presentations.

Head of the athletic department Barry Pyear gave words of warning in his closing remarks for the evening. He stressed that funding for the sports programs is based on total enrollment for the school and, in his ten years at CHSS, enrollment has drop-ped from 1,300 to 850. He predicted hard times for athletic programs which he described as a luxury. He from the athletes would see the sports programs con-tinue. "If we really do support the programs in numbers, effort and fund raising, we can continue to run a good program."

Photography weekend at Presqu'ile Park

Anyone who has ever snapped a picture will find something of interest at Presqu'ile Park on the first weekend of June. The Park is sponsoring its second annual Nature Photography Weekend on June 4.5 and 6. There will be workshops, slide shows, talks, evening slide shows, talks, even programs, a nature slide competition and an exhibiof nature photo graphers.

lt's an opportunity to mix and mingle with other camera buffs from the area and a chance to meet some of the finest photographers in Ontario

The weekend starts off on Friday, June 4 at 4 p.m. with a beautiful slide show called "Presqu'ile". This is the premiere of a two synchronised produced by the Toronto Photography

An exhibition of nature photographs will be on display throughout the weekend. These photos have been collected from have been collected from such people as world class wildlife photographer Hal Norris, nature film person-ality Dan Gibson, Bill Reynolds, author of the photo book Point Pelee. The show will also feature photos from the Toronto photos from the Toronto Guild for Color Photography as well as the best of the area's own Belleville Cam-era Club. The exhibition is open daily until 5 p.m.. May 29 30, 31 and June 4, 5 and 29, 30, 31 and June 4, 5 and

There are four workshops planned for the June week-end. Of special interest to the novice will be the Saturday afternoon session. Bob Wood, a photo instruc-tor for the Metro Toronto Zoo will give the basics of pature photography, every thing from 35 mm on.

The main driver-related fee to be increased is the complete Class "L" licence and road test from $12 to $20. And if upgrading your driver's licence to a higher driver's licence to a higher class, the fee for the complete test is, being raised from $11 to $19. Other driver's tests, mainly the vision and written examination, are increased from $3 to $5. In addition, all motor

In addition, all motor vehicle transfers, fit and unfit, will now cost $5 with a couple of exceptions. Excouple of exceptions will include licensed motor vehicle dealers who will now pay a $2 transfer fee when the vehicle is being held for resale. And licensed motor vehicle wreckers will continue a "no charge" fee basis provided the vehicles, in fact, wrecked.

New fees for replacement plates, certified record searches and collision reports will be $10 while in-transit markers, duplicate vehicle permits and regular record searches will be increased to $5.

ONEFOOT IN THE FURROW Farm bankruptcies frighten

The truth is out. Farm leaders have been sending out warnings for months that all is not well in the boondocks. The uni-verse is not unfolding as it should. It seems few people were listening. Farm bankruptcies, they said, are increasing. Farm ers are feeling the pinch to a greater degree than anyon else. The predictions came true. Farm bankruptcies are running about 70 per cent above last year's record rate. The blight has spread n across Canada

Headsets hazardous

With the return of go weather, the Ontario Safety League cautions bicyclists to stay in touch with the world of motor vehicle horns, sirens and train whistles. Biking and stereo headsets don't mix, the safety group warns.
Stereo headsets are a new wrinkle on the safety scene and the League is concerned especially for young bicyclists. The miniature radios can have an extremely volume-some over 110 dec-ibels, according to acoustics experts. In comparison, a normal speaking voice reg isters about 50 decibels and street traffic about 60 to 70 decibels. Many products now offer a "talk line" or "hot line" as a safety feature—a button which you push to let in the outside noise. However, this doesn't solve the problem. If there's a car behind you. you probably won't know when to push the button.

Evensat moderate, levels, states the League, it is hazardous to listen to the headsets while riding a bike, driving a vehicle or even rollerskating on the public roads. Save the public roads. Save the music for the park bench, beach or rest stops.

any of that help in the provincial budget. He, naturally, is looking to Ottawa -- and blaming Ottawa. Leadership should come from the House of Commons, he suggests.

As this is written, farm leaders from across Canada are meeting federal politic-ians in Ottawa. By the time it gets into print, announcement on low-inter-est loans may be heralded but it will be cautious, I'm sure. It will be a patchwork solution, a band-aid where major surgery is needed.

No comprehensive farm policy has yet been formulated to serve the long term interests of farmers. Eugene Whelan keeps prod-ding farmers to form marketing boards as the only solution to the problems. Well, he may be right, but many of those same

Beef Cattle Financial Protection Program
Recently the Ontario Min

of Agriculture and the Hon. Dennis Timbrell, announced a program which would provide protection for producers against default by buyers. The program will become ffective on August 1.

The main features of the program will include com pulsory licensing of all purchasers of slaughter and feeder cattle, with the exception of producers who sell to other producers in the normal course of their farming operation.

Other provisions include requirement that all a requirement that an a same payments be made with in a 48-hour period. Also included is the establishment of a fund which would provide compensation for sellers of beef cattle in cases where there is a default on payment by the licensed purchaser and compensa-tion for sellers of 90 per cent of any losses resulting from payment default as recommended by the industry.

These changes will come about as the result of regulations made under the Livestock and Livestock Products Act and the Farm Payments Products Payments Act ions for establishing a licensing system and a compensation fund. It will compulsory for stock dealers to livestock licensed. Dealers will include commission firms, at the Ontario Stockyards. rommunity sales operators under the Livestock Com munity Sales Act; meat packers under the Canada Meat Inspection Act, and slaughterhouses operating slaughterhouses operating under the Ontario Meat Inspection Act, and all country dealers. A compensation fund will be established by payments of 20 cents ner head by all parties to a transaction direct sale to a packer, slaughterhouse operator or country dealer. Both seller and buyer will each pay 20 cents per head towards the consignment fund rund. On consignment sales, each of the seller, the selling agent, and the buyer, will pay 20 cents a head to the fund. It is estimated that these contristimated that these tollars buttons will generate about $1 million by the end of the first year of the program's operation and it may be operation and it may be possible to reduce or remove the 20 cents contribution requirement within a few years. The program, as announced, will guarantee producers protection from financial losses which have resulted when cattle dealers or packers defaulted due to financial difficulty. It follows much discussion within the cattle industry over a period of several years.

Students and teachers had worked hard over the past month to riase money to bring Colonel Irwin to Madoc, but advanced ticket sales were very disappoint ing and, rather than money, it was decided to cancel the event. A message was sent to Colonel Irwin on Monday morning advising him of the change of plans.

Peace Park nuclear poll

Sixty-four per cent of those responding to the question do you agree that there should be a freeze of nuclear armaments by the United States and Russia at the present time? said yes and thirty-four said no.

Conducted by the Peace Park, it should be pointed out that this was not a scientific poll and because replies were limited to the local area, it does not necessarily indicate the view of Canadians general-ly. The Peace Park has not taken any position in the matter other than it is opposed to war generally and to nuclear war, particularly because it involves the killing of civilians and

The Bantam boys lost home opener to ord on Tuesday Frankford night. This is a relatively new team this year and it will take a while to develop a winner, but remember boys, it's not whether you win the game that is important, it's how you play the game. Their next game is against Tweed on Tuesday ay evening. Our Pee Wee boys were also unsuccessful in their opener on Tuesday evening. but it must be pointed out here that these boys were not ever together as a team until they appeared on the field for the game. Prior to the game, the boys even travelled to Cooper to help level the field for their This speaks very highly for these boys and should tell everyone how hadly these lads want to play ball. They are obviously in the game for the joy of playing ball. A job well done Pee Wees. Keep up the effort and you too will be winners at ball.

Queen's Park Report

Re: Provincial Budget The budget that Treasur-er Frank Miller brought down on May 13, is geared essentially to creating em ployment both directly and indirectly with the result that by the end of this year, the treasurer is forecasting there will be 125,000 more jobs in Ontario than there are at present. To this end, a four-point employment creation pro-gram is being launched which will provide 31,000 temporary jobs this year at a total cost of $171 million. This program will include the setting up of a $15 million Co-operative Projects Employment Fund, which will allow us to participate with the federal government in providing been laid off in vital sectors of the economy. These workers will receive their unemployment . insurance benefits plus a provincial supplement to work on temporary projects in the sectors where they were formerly employed. It is expected that 6,000 jobs will be created from this fund.

The second measure involves the speeding up of capital projects such as repairs and additions to ublic buildings and construction work on highways.

A third measure will deal A third measure will deal with unemployment among our young people. Our youth employment programs which are already substantial, will be further expanded by increasing funding by 14.2 per cent. The resulting $91 million budget will help 93,000 young people get valuable work experience.

The fourth measure under this program involves the agricultural sector. The budget is proposing $11 million in measures to create jobs in our farm communities this summer First, funds for tile drainage will be increased by over 26 per cent. Second, there will be a new $5 million Farmstead Improvement Program which will provide grants to help farmers improve their farms. These measures will create 2,100 additional rural jobs this

All prepared food is now taxable whereas before only meals over $6 were subject to a tax of 10 per cent. While there has been some criticism of this move. I think it is every bit as fair as the former system of taxing meals. Much of the food sold in fast food chains is imported whereas a good produce which goes into the meals is Ontario-grown.

There have also been complaints about having to pay taxes on essentials such as soap and baby care products. But I think we need to be reminded that we have been paying property taxes for years and there is little that is more essential than one's home

The budget was prepared in one of the most difficult economic times Ontario has ever experienced. Never theless. I question two possibly might be changed once the budget is debated in the House. I'm referring to the tax on labor for car repairs and the tax on some hygiene products

On Tuesday, May 18, a delegation from Bancroft came to Queen's Park to meet with me on the Madawaska Mines issue Among the local people to make the trip were Father Maloney, Ruth Fenwick, Reeve of Faraday Town-ship; Bancroft Reeve Russell Hawley, Eugene Flynn representing the Madawas ka Mines Association, and Barry Martin, Chairman the Bancroft Chamber of

After a meeting in my office, we went over to see Hugh Macaulay, Chairman of Ontario Hydro to discuss the mines situation with him and senior staff members

The delegation presented a new brief and asked for further consideration.

Mr. Macaulay told us that was his mandate to produce power at the lowest cost. At present, Ontario Hydro gets much of its uranium form Saskatche wan. The open pit mining there and the richer ore content, make the Saskatchewan uranium cheaper than that which Madawaska Mines could provide

As a result, Mr. Macau lav said Ontario Hydro ould need assistance from both the federal and provin cial governments to help them with the cost of stockpiling wanium from Madawaska in order to keep

Keep it simple

By CATHARINE CLARK TOZER

Consultant

Babies can learn from dolls and trucks alone but what they really need is variety in their toy box. Toys to manipulate, toys to mouth, toys to lift, fit together, pull apart, stand on, throw, open and close. Toys for experimenting! In order to buy enough toys to satisfy a child's insatiable curiosity about different objects, you would have to be a millionaire with unlimited storage space. The answer, happily, lies in lending him a wide range of ordinary household objects to supplement his toy box. Common Sense Rules

There are a few rules that vill help you to play with the baby:

(1) Give the child only a few toys at a time. If he loses interest in a particular toy, put it away and offer it again in a few weeks. By then he may have learned new skills that will make it seem like a new toy."

(2) Let him play with the toy for as long as he wants and it's safe.

Keep it simple

By CATHARINE CLARK TOZER Infant Develop Consultant

Babies can learn from dolls and trucks alone but what they really need is variety in their toy box. variety in their toy box.
Toys to manipulate, toys to mouth, toys to lift, fit together, pull apart, stand on, throw, open and close.
Toys for experimenting!
In order to buy enough

toys to satisfy a child's insatiable curiosity about different objects, you would have to be a millio naire with unlimited storage space. The answer, happily, lies in lending him a wide range of ordinary household objects to supplement his toy box. Common Sense Rules

There are a few rules that will help you to play with the baby:

(1) Give the child only a few toys at a time. If he loses interest in a particular toy, put it away and offer it again in a few weeks. By then he may have learned new skills that will make it seem like a new toy.

Let's meet our teams and learn a little bit about them. The team we will feature this week will be the Eldorado Beauties, our Pee Wee representative. They were formed by Mrs. Betty Wood and consist of twelve girls, twelve and thirteen years of age. Team coach will be Dave Franks.

Dave is no stranger to softball. Not a player himself, he has however been involved in helping his son's team for several vears. Dave has a sound knowledge of softball. Whatever he doesn't know, he can look up in his little Blue Book.

Betty Wood is a newcom er on the scene and became involved for the same reason that a lot of parents do, because her daughter wanted to play ball. Her son, Shawn, played for the Atom team last year. She also has another reason. Betty loves working with young people. She is called "Aunt Betty" by many of the girls

Members of the team, all new to the game on an organized level, are Linda Bailey, Norman Patti Brownson, Norma Suzanne Franks, Paula Harris, Kim Hobson, Lori McCann, Can-dy Osborne. Lisa Baker, Tammy Ramsey: Susan Shaw and Elizabeth Wood. Susan This team was their league opener and will meet Frankford this week, as well as Madoc. wins opener

The Eldorado Cheese Juniors scalped their opponents in their league opener by a score of 23-4. Randy Gray was on the mound for the first four innings, giving up two hits, two walks and striking out three. Mike Franks pitched to three men in the fifth, striking out one. Otter Creek scored all three runs in the third, however Eldorado bats were hot throughout the game as they collected 23 runs. In the first, Shaw led off with a double, followed by a double by Reid; Ringleman fled out to centre to score the first run. Gray reached on an error Toms doubled to score Reid. Scoring was completed when Willemson singled to score Gray. In the second, Robinson singled nd scored on Doug Reid's home run.

Fourteen batters went to the plate in the third in a ten run romp over Otter Creek. Two runs apiece were scored by Toms, Willem: son, and Franks, single runs were scored by Reid, Gray, Donaldson and Robinson The fourth was a repeat of the third as eight more runs were added with runs scored by Shaw, Reid, Ringleman, Toms, Willem-son, Franks, Donaldson and Robinson.

seem surprised about the new find in Flinton. 'A band from the Quebec border, through Cornwall to Belleville is now considered the general area of infestation and that's where we expect to find the Gypsy Moth," said ministry representative Alec Denys.

The eight caterpillars were found on the farm of Herbert Ernst about two weeks ago. Because the caterpillars were quite small when Mr. Ernst first discovered them, he kept them for awhile and grew them to a stage where they could easily be identified by the ministry. As soon as the ministry confirmed the find, Mr. Ernst bought commer-cial Sevin and applied it to trees near his house. At least one other dead caterpillar was found in the tree since the spraying.

Minutemen allow one run

The Madoc Minutemer Ine Madoc Minutermen continued their winning ways this past week. On Tuesday night, Daryl Kramp pitched a four hit shutout over Ken's Electric. Thursday night in Carlon Thursday night in Spring-brook. Brian Armstrong pitched a four hit, 8-1 victory over the Springbrook Steelers

On Tuesday night, the Minutemen scored all three runs in the first inning. Robert Nickle doubled: Charlie Wannamaker Charlie Wannamaker singled; with two out, Harold Bailey doubled, dri-ving in Nickle. Daryl Kramp's single drove in Wannamaker, and Bailey Wannamaker and Bailey and this finished the scoring for the night. Kramp walked none and struck out seven in earning his first win of the season (He also has two ties to his credit).

Thursday night Brian Armstrong's pitching wasn't sharp until the third inning. Army, after allow-ing his first earned run in the first inning, left the bases loaded in the first inning and left two men stranded in the second frame. His team mates gave him the offence he needed and the game ended after five innings 8-1. (Mercy rule: if a team is ahead by 7 runs after the fifth inning the game ends after 5 innings). This was Army's second five inning victory The Minutemen scored twice in the first inning on batted by Clayton Whiteman and Harold Bailey. Glen Graham singled in Wannamaker in the second; Brian Armstrong's triple drove in Whiteman and Wannamaker's single drove in Armstrong in the third inning. During the fifth inning Dale Graham's sin-le drove in Armstrong. During the bottom of the fifth, Terry Helps made a super shoe string catch in left field to end the ball

The Minutemen are now tied with Tweed for first place. Madoc's record is 4 wins, 0 losses and 2 ties. Tweed has a 5-1 record.

Future Games - Tuesday, June 15, Thomasburg at Madoc. (8:30 p.m.); Thursday, June 17, Madoc at Springbrook Rams (7 p.m.); esday, June 22, Tweed at Madoc (8:30 p.m.)

WAYS WATER

By JIM KELLEHER Resources Manager Crowe Valley Conservati

"Why is my .?!/& water

so high?"
"When are you going to out logs in the dam? Why did the water come up two feet overnight? These questions are typical of the ones that come through the CVCA office. Quite often, these questions have no simple answers.

The answers are, at best, based on solid hydrological information and, at other times, an educated guess * Therefore, one of the reasons behind this column, is to tell you how the Crowe System works and how we work the Crowe System.

A water management study to help us work the system better is underway now. This study is being prepared by the firm of Kilborn Limited and headed by Mike Garroway, CET. Mike has an intimate knowledge of the Crowe System from working as an engineering techician for the Ministry of Natural Resources - Eastern Region. Results of this study will be included in these columns.

included in these columns.
Finally, a wrap-up of this series will be a section entitled What's Happening.
Scheduled to begin in February of 1983, this section will use the information from previous columns to take you through a year of operating the system with us, so keep your back issues, they'll come in handy

The following is a brief outline of topics we hope to see in this column: May Introduction to the Series; June Water Facts; July The Crowe Valley River

Authority If you have any questions or have any topics you would like to see covered, let us know.

Water Facts

Water is a transparent, odorless, colorless liquid that occurs in the form of rain and is found in lakes and river. The three states that water can be found in are solid (ice. snow): liquid (water) and gas (steam, water vapor). However, these varieties depend on temperature and in the Crowe watershed, solid and liquid are of most concern. Looking at the diagram of the hydrologic cycle below, we can see what water does in nature.

Let's start on the left side Let's start on the left side of the diagram. Precipita-tion can be in the form of rain, snow or hail. When the precipitation reaches the earth, it can soak into the ground (infiltration) or run off into lakes and river. If snow falls, the runoff and infiltration are delayed until the weather warms up Evaporation is always hap pening even though you can't see it. It's probably most noticeable during the hot summer days when the water level in your lake seems to be dropping. Evaporation can take about .15 inches of water from a lake in one day. That amounts to over one inch in a week! The evaporated water forms clouds and then precipitation occurs again.

So now we have four factors that affect the Crowe System: (1) Precipitation -How much will fall during a How much will fall during a storm? How much area will it cover? (2) Surface runoff How much will run off? (3) Infilitration How much will be absorbed? (4) Evaporation How much will be evaporated?

As you see, we are talking about the weather, and our predictions are only as good as the weatherman's

Boating on a budget

Part 1 - for less than $1,000

Pleasure boating has be-come the major leisure-time come the major lessure-time activity, of over two million Canadians. And it's no wonder! Boating is fun. Boating is a healthy recrea-tion. And boating is an activity all members of the family can enjoy together. If you have been thinking labout "getting into boat-about "getting into boat-ing" but are afraid the cost would put too great a strain on your budget, here are some suggestions from Al-lied. Boating-Canada that will help you make the move for less than $1,000. *CANOES. The more you re willing to pay, the better the workmanship will be on the workmanship will be on your canoe. But price and workmanship aside, the basic design is the greatest contributor to your fun on the water. Modern canoes are made of fiberglass reinforced plastic, alumin-um, polyethylene, Keylar reinforced plastic and, of reinforced plastic and, of course, cedar-strip and birchbark, although the latter two are rare and expensive. The best canoe for you is the one with a for you is the one with a design that suits your needs and canoeing interests.

Three hull shapes are generally available: flat, V-shaped and round-bottom. A flat-bottom hull resists tipping on calm water; V-shaped hulls are a good choice for choppy water; rounded-hulls offer little resistance to tipping. A good beginner's canoe A good beginner's canoe can be bought for as little as $350. Paddles cost about $25 each, and Personal

Flotation Devices, especialy designed for canoeing safety and comfort, run about $50 each

ROWBOATS. Sometimes ROWBOATS. Sometimes referred to as Rowing Dinghies or Cartoppers. They are ideal for fishing and are easily transported on the top of today's down-sized cars. Small outboard motors can be added at a later date. Most are made of aluminum, but some are offered in fiber-glass. Prices start at about $600 for the basic boat, with oars and lifejackets extra.

SAILBOATS. Boardsailing has really "caught on" in Canada in the past couple of years. It's no longer considered a "muscle sport" only for the young and adventuresome. If you can swim and like the water, whether you are 7 or 70 you'll enjoy boardsailing. It involves principally balance and co-ordination and you will be pleasantly surprised at how quickly you can learn. Provided you have the determination, you can master the basics of balance, sail control and tacking in two to six hours When you begin sailing and feeling the sensation of gliding forward, hanging on the wind, you'll know boardsailing is worth all the spills.

A good beginner's board, complete with sail, can be bought for as little as $600. You-will, of course, require a Personal Flotation Device or lifejacket.

Now that you know you can "get into boating" for friends have all the fun. In less than $1,000, you no longer have to is stand on the stand on the stand on the stand of the stand stand watch your get for less than $2,000.

Obviously, the senior governments have no idea of the extent of the terrible toll being paid by farmers. Precious little was included in the Ontario budget to help farmers and the federal government seems power-less to even add a few more millions to the Farm Credit Corporation. No one seems to be taking the plight of farmers seriously except the farmers themselves.

They're crying out there but nobody seems to be aware of the tears.

Now. I have a few suggestions for senior levels of government but I doubt very much if they'll listen to me any more than they have me any more than they have listened to Canadian and provincial farm leaders. listened

First, let's have a one-vear moratorium on farm foreclosures. Stop them become epidemic in propor-tion. It is happening fre-quently. Bur it is just the tip of the iceburg; believe me.

Second, let's have a sensible interest rate for farmers because they depend so heavily on bor-rowed money to operate. Could I suggest something in the neighborhood of 15 or 14 per cent, a special rate for agriculture? Why not? If they all go out of business, you and I will have to find something besides food to Escape to our rural past at the Agricultural Museum

MILTON - Sheep shearing, log-hewing and the re-enactment of an 1867 Puslinch Town Council meeting are among the events planned for the annual Spring Festival at the Ontario Agricultural Museum this month.

The museum, located five kilometres west of Milton, opens its doors to the public May 17. Spring Festival ac-tivities are scheduled for Victoria weekend and the following weekend.

Starting May 22, the Spring Festival will feature demonstrations of traditional spring farm work such as planting gardens, sowing grain and gardens, sowing grain and churning butter. Museum staff, some dressed in period costume, will demonstrate spinning and dyeing of wool, weaving and baking. Visitors of all ages will enjoy the many new-born farm animals kept on the 32-hectare (80 acre) site.

A new building at the museum, the restored Puslinch Town Hall originally built in 1867, will be officially opened on Puslinch Day, May 30. Various dignitaries will preside over the ribbon-cutting cere-mony at 2 p.m. Following the opening, costumed members of the Puslinch Township Council will re-enact the first council meeting of 1867.

Another new feature at the seum is the Heritage Label Collection, donated by American Can of Canada. The dis-play, made up of old labels dating back to the 1882 to 1930 era, shows the relationship between the canning industry and agriculture.

In addition to Spring Festival, there are many attractions to see at the Ontario Agriculto see at the Ontario Agricul-tural Museum. There are dis-plays of all types of farm machinery, and agricultural artifacts including a display of the evolution of power on the farm. Urban and rural visitors will enjoy watching the cost-umed weavers and blacksmiths, and touring the 1860 barn and the working farm-steads dating from the 1830s. The museum is also hosting two Teacher's Days May 23 and May 30 to give teachers the opportunity to explore the special school programs available to students from Grade 1 to the college and university level. Pioneer life, farm animals, farm machinery and equipment are some of the subjects of the conducted

The Ontario Agricultural Museum, operated by the Ministry of Agriculture and Food, is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily May 17 to October 11. Admission prices are: adults $2.50, students $1.50, seniors $1.25, children $1 and

Texan trade mission nets $5 million in food exports

Ontario's first food sales mission to Dallas, Texas generated more than $5 million in export sales of Ontario food products.

A delegation representing 11 Ontario food processing com-panies participated in the fiveday mission, in late April. "We are very pleased that our food products were so well received during this first trade mission to the Dallas market, said Agriculture and Food Minister Dennis Timbrell. "The food show," which featured displays and samples of Ontario products, attracted 250 buyers, brokers and dis-tributers from the Dallas-Forth Worth area.

Ontario companies sold a wide range of products to the greater Texas market in-cluding smoked fish, bacon. greater ham, biscuits, specialty meats, frozen foods, cheddar cheese, German-style breads, spices and honey Accompanying the mission were Duncan Allan, Deputy Minister and Bill Richardson, export officer, for the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Proper care - the key to long life for carpets

Carpeting is one of the big-gest investments in the home and unfortunately it gets more wear than any home furnishings. "But, it is possible to get long life and service from carpets with proper care," say clothing and textile specialists with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food

To maintain the best appearance for your carpet, regular cleaning is necessary. Vacuum it thoroughly once a week to remove imbedded dirt. Heavy traffic areas, such as halls and family rooms, re-quire daily care with a carpet sweeper or light vacuum cleaner, sometimes called an electric broom. Attend to spots and stains immediately.

Invest in the best quality acuum cleaner you ci ford. There are two main types from which to choose. One has a beater bar built into the vacuum or into a special head attachment to beat the carpet attachment to be at the carpet while it vacuums. This is essential for thorough cleaning of pile carpeting. The other type of vacuum relies on suc-tion alone and should be used only for shag carpeting, outdoor carpeting or light surface cleaning. An exception to this is the commercial vacuum with suction powerful enough to remove imbedded dirt.

Thorough vacuuming involves several back and forth strokes over each area of the carpet. Empty or replace the dust bag before it is completely full to maintain suction Carpet stains are not easy to remove but immediate atten-tion and proper methods can help prevent permanent stain-ing. Have a spot removal kit on hand containing the following: dry cleaning fluid, such as perchlor ethylene (available as perchlor ethylene (available as most drugstores); detergent solution made up of one tea-spoon of mild synthetic detergent (such as liquid detergent for washing dishes). one teaspoon of vinegar and a quart of warm water; an eye dropper to apply the cleaning fluid or detergent solution; a bottle of soda water; and clean, white, absorbent cloths.

For most effective stain removal, work on the surface of the pile only, from the outside edges of the stain to the centre. Absorb liquids as much as possible using a clean white cloth and lift solid substances with the dull edge of a knife, before the stain is treated with a cleaning solution.

To remove non-greasy stains such as soft drinks, alcoholic such as soft drinks, atconouc beverages and fruit juices, im-mediately blot with a cloth dipped in soda water. If a stain still remains, blot the area with a clean white cloth dipped in the detergent solution. Treat such oily stains as coffee, chocolate and salad dressing by blotting with perchlor-

Thorough cleaning of your carpet should be done periodically. How frequently this will be necessary descriptions. this will be necessary depends on factors such as the size of the household and the location of the carpet. Carpets in heavy traffic areas (family rooms, and halls) require more frequent cleaning than carpets in lighter traffic areas.

The two most effective cleaning methods are shampooing and steam cleaning. Rental machines for these in hardware stores and supermarkets and you can save money by doing the cleaning yourself. Follow the instructions given on the machine for each method. The recommended detergent is usually sold where the machines are rented.

To shampoo, fill the machine To shampoo, fill the machine with detergent and water, as instructed, and push the machines back and forth over the carpet. The detergent foam captures the dirt particles and holds them in suspension while it dries to powder. The powder is then vacuumed away.

Steam cleaning is the method used by most profes-sionals. As the machine moves over the carpet, a solution of hot water and detergent is injected under pressure into the carpet and seconds later removed by powerful suction. Most of the moisture is removed so the carpet dries quickly

Follow these suggestions for regular care of your carpets. By maintaining their best arance you will prolong th safety deposit box and one in your current files where it can be updated.

Store family records which are difficult to replace in a safety deposit box. Such items would be birth, death or marriage certificates, citizenship papers, wills, stocks/bonds, household inventories and real estate papers. It is a good idea to keep a copy of wills and household inventories in your current file so family or friends can locate them quickly in emergencies. Also include your safety box location and list of contents. When you complete contents, when you complete an estate inventory and careful storage of family documents, you have the satisfaction of completing a necessary but often overlooked task. You and other family manks. and other family members will be better able to cope with family or financial matters.

Fungus diseases increasing in some shade tree species

by Peter F. Rice Royal Botanical Gardens

Intensity and frequency of fungus diseases infecting the foliage of certain shade trees has increased significantly in the past few yes

The relatively rare prob The relatively rare prob-lems affecting tree appear-ance may now significantly contribute to the decline and death of whole trees. The susceptibility to these diseases may limit the use of certain trees in garden land scapes.

One of the reasons for this disease situation is a change in the climate, from rela-tively predictable from about 1940 to 1970, to more erratic patterns with un-even annual distribution of rainfall and unusual tem-peratures - conditions conducive to foliage disease de-velopment. The life cycle of disease-causing fungi usual ly begins with the over-wintering of the organisms within the dead infected tissue (usually leaves) and late production of spores which spread by the wind to the new unfolding leaves If conditions permit, the surface and the fungi pene-trate the leaf. As cells are systematically infected, a viaystematically interted, a vi-sible brown spot develops and grows and coalesces with other expanding spots from other infections. The leaf eventually withers and falls from the twig.

Before reaching the stage of total leaf collapse, more spores are produced within the spots and are carried by wind or rain to uninfected tissue. If conditions permit, new infection centres develop. This may continue throughout the season. Specific diseases

Some crabapples are highly susceptible to Apple Scab fungus. This disease is well known to apple growers be-well, and of the several sprays applied before harvest, the majority contain chemicals to control this fungus. The effect on crab-apples is gradual defolia-tion, so that by mid-August there are few leaves remaining and no refoliation takes place. Some crabapple cultivars are quite resistant to Apple Scab. These include "Dolgo", "Makamik", "Red Jade", "Profusion", "White Angel".

Hawthorns have Hawthorns have been seriously affected in the past few years by Hawthorn Leaf Spot fungus. The effect on the plant is similar to that of Apple Scab. Defoliation begins in midsummer from the bottom, leaving a few leaves at the top by Sep-tember. Pin-and red-flowering hawthorns seem to be most susceptible.

Another common foliage disease is Leaf Blotch of common Horse- Chestnut and Ohio Buckeye. Others of this species are less susceptible. Like the previous problems, this disease in-fects as conditions permit. "Blotching" of the leaves is followed by their gradual deterioration and leaf-fall through the summer as in-fection spreads. Because the leaves are larger, this dis-ease is highly visible and can be very unsightly. be very unsightly.

One of the more spectacular foliage diseases is Syca-more Anthracnose, a fungus disease affecting the Plata-nus species, including Lon-don Plane and American Sycamore. With the proper conditions, especially tem-perature, this fungus infects unfolding leaves and new shoots causing them to wi-ther quickly, appearing as if damaged by late frost. This infection may completely defoliate the tree by the end of May, a few leaves at the top usually escaping infection.

Under suitable conditions the fungus may continue to spread into the bark of twigs causing an annual canker and twig girdling. Spores are pro-duced in these cankers as well as on overwintered fall-en leaves for reinfection the following spring. Because defoliation occurs early in the growing season, serious-ly defoliated trees form new buds which break quickly, and by mid-July affected and by mid-July affected trees appear normal except for the dead twigs girdled by the disease. Controlling leaf spots on a practical scale seems, at first shapes a sale in the seems.

Spraying should be un-dertaken within a few hours after a rain (especially May and June) to be really effective. Spray early in the season before the leaves show spotting. Most people apply fungicides too infre-quently and too late. The action of fungicides is more prevention than eradica-

Cover leaves thoroughly with the fungicide solu-tion. This is not difficult for small trees, but you'll need a power sprayer coverage of large trees.

Reduce spore sources by raking and destroying af-fected leaves. Pruning out diseased twigs offers limited control unless susceptible trees are grown in iso-lation from other infected trees, seldom the case in urban areas.

IF YOU'RE A RENTER, HERE'S ENCOURAGEMENT ТО ВЕСОМЕ А НОМЬ

From now until October 30, 1982, the Ontario Renter-Buy Program is offering an interest-free loan of up to $5,000 for 15 years to Ontario residents who have been renting for the previous 12 months or who have never owned their own home. The loan applies to the purchase of newly-constructed homes only

HERE'S HOW OUR PLAN WORKS

If you decide to buy, you must make a minimum down payment of 10% of the purchase price. The Renter-Buy loan will amount to an uddittoma? 10% up to a maximum of $5,000. The loan must be added to the total down payment. The 15-year, interest-tree loan is payment free for the first 10 years, with repayments beginning in the 11th year.

THE PURCHASE PRICE.

The purchase price must not ex-ceed $115,000 in Metro Toronto and surrounding areas. Elsewhere in Ontario, the maximum pur chase price is $90,000. Minimum qualitying price is $20,000.

THE HOMES THAT QUALIFY. Any home or unit suitable for perma nent, year round living as long as it was not used previously for resi-dential purposes. This includes condominiums, mobile homes and owner-built units. Housing on the Individuals and couples can apply, but couples can make only one application. If you or your spouse have owned residential property (with the excep-tion of vacant land or seasonal vacant cottages) in the 12 months i the date of application, you do not qualify. Corporations, trustees, partnerships, etc. also do not qualify.

WHEN THE PURCHASE MUST BE MADE.

This program went into effect May 14, 1982 and continues to October 30, 1982 inclusive. The unit must be occupied as a principal residence on or before April 30, 1983.

Proper soil management the key to soil conservation

By KEN YARROW

buck

Proper care of the Toli is the foundation stone of a successful agriculture in-dustry, yet soil management is something many farmers give low priority. Thousands of tonnes of top soil is lost from Ontario farms every year. It is blown away by the wind, washed away by rain storms or renaway by rain storms or ren-dered unproductive by over-cropping, improper fertilization or poor management.

Engineers and soil scientists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food have devoted years to studying soil properties and de-vising methods to ensure that the farmer's basic resource maintains its pro ductivity for food production for future generation

Wind and water erosion are probably the two most serious problems the soil manager must deal with, manager must deal with, but there are a lot of other factors that can affect the productivity of soil. The farmer needs to know when to plow shallow and when to plow deep, and when not to plow at all. The farmer should know the chemical make-up of the soil to know what nutrients to add and how much. Even knowing the soil temperature can soil temperature can e an affect on crop yields.

Wind and water erosion rob Ontario farmers of thousands of tonnes of top soil every year. Dr. C.S. Baldwin, head of the soils section at Ridge-town College of Agricultural Technology, says sandy soils are the primary targets of wind erosion, but many of Ontario's muck, silt and clay soils are also sus-

To make matters worse, wind crosion is a selective process because the soil par-ticles blown away are always the most fertile ones. Farmers need to realize that wind erosion is a fertilitydepleting process. And the loss of silt and clay particles from sandy soils lowers the moisture-holding capacity

OF CANADA LIFE IS A MUTUAL AFFAIR Pest Diagnostic and Advisory Clinic

Timing is the key to good control of insect pests in the home garden. Injury from the many insects submitted to the Pest Diagnostic and Advisors Clinic from gar-deners in 1981 could have been minimized if controls have been used at the pro-per time. Most specimens were gardening casualties detected too late.

From the very outset of the garden in spring, timing of planting can present injury from some pests. The seed corn maggot, for examseed corn maggot, for exam-ple, consumed many corn, pea, bean, cucumber, and other large vegetable seeds in 1981. The result was poor emergence or malformed plants, especially those "bald-headed" beans with

May is prime time for the adult seed corn maggot flies to lay eggs near germinating seeds. So by waiting until June 1 in southern Ontario (June 10 in northern areas) (June 10 in northern areas) to seed these vegetables you avoid most of the maggot activity. The same holds true for the onion maggot and the carrot rust fly.

Timing is also critical in pest control. Take chinch bogs in lawns, for example. Typically, we receive a flood of phone calls in August concerning brown patches in the lawn. By this time, it too late to apply insecticides for control. The chinch bugs have already done the damage, and are moving to adjacent hedges and sheltered areas to over-winter. The time to look for chinch bugs is in early July when the young are actively feeding in the lawn. If num bers are high, insecticides can be applied before signi-

The birch leaf miner is The birch leaf miner is another pest which illustrates the importance of timing for good control. The systemic insecticide, dimethosle (Cygon 2E, System 2E), whether soil or System 223, whether soil of bark treatment, should be applied in May as soon as the leaf buds open. This gives the insecticide time to be taken up by the roots or stem and moved into unfolding leaves. There, if enough is present, dimedesigned to control adult leaf miners as they lay eggscan be delayed until the leaves have just unfolded.

Timing the harvest can minimize injury from insect pests. The sap beetle, or pic-nic beetle, the black beetle with four tan spots on its back, is a good example. Sap beetles are attracted by the odors of fermenting and deodors of fermenting and de-caping plant products, in-cluding beer, wine, vinegar, cut vegetables and fruit, and overripe or injured gar-den, produce. Enjoy spring greenhouse seedless cucumbers now

Each winter, long seedless cucumbers are planted and nurtured in Ontario greenouses to ripen in the spring.

The seeds are planted in December, and are transplanted in the greenhouses during January or February. In areas where a fall crop is also grown, the second planting takes place in July or August. Six weeks after planting, the cucumbers are ready to pick.

Learnington is the greenhouse centre in the province, supplying about 75 per cent of the long seedless cucumber crop. The remainder come from the Niagara Peninsula. Bradford, Hamilton and Sim-coe area. Last year, about 1.7 million dozen long seedless cucumbers were harvested, say marketing specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agri-culture and Food.

These long, slender cucumbers grow to 30 to 38 centimetres (12 to 15 inches) long. They grow fairly straight because they are given plenty of room. As plants grow, they are wound around hanging strings until they reach about 2.1 metres in length. At this point, plants are trimmed to allow more light to reach the cucumbers, and to give them more room to grow.

Do - it- yourself painting low-cost home improvement

There are so many types of paints and painting equipment-available for interior use today it's difficult to decide when, where, and how to use them.

Paints are classified into two basic _categories: Oil-based paint (solvent thinned) commonly called alkyd paint, and monly called alkyd paint, and water-based paint (water thinned) commonly called latex paint. Enamels made with a varnish or resin base in-stend of linseed-oil, are included under the broad oil-based paint category.

Oil-based paints are very durable and highly resistant to durable and highly resistant to staining and damage. They can withstand frequent scrub-bings and give good one-coat coverage. Many latex paints are advertised as having similar properties. The main advantages of latex paint are easier application, faster dry-ing and simpler tool clean up. It is, water soluble, or the easier application, taster dry-ing and simpler tool clean up. It is water soluble, so the brushes, rollers, and other equipment can be cleaned easiwith water.

Oil-based paints are used in bathrooms and kitchens where humidity of the room is high. Such a paint resists moisture better than the latex type and is easier to clean. Latex paints are usually used in bedrooms. living rooms and dining rooms where maintenance requirements are not as demanding.

Both alkyd and latex paints gloss finishes however, only alkyd is found in high gloss. Generally, the higher the gloss or the shinier the finish, the easier that surface is to clean. Surfaces painted with flat paints have many pores or small openings and it is in these openings that dirt and dust particles collect. Surfaces covered with flat paints are more difficult to clean and also do not "spot clean" well. Often a washed area becomes very distinct from the rest of the surrounding wall, so it is advisable to wash the entire porous wall to prevent spotting.

other liquid finishes are available in litre (I) and millilitre (ml) containers. The usual sizes are 11 and 51 cans replacing the quart and the gallon.

If you buy paint by the litre, coverage is expressed in square metres (m²). If purchased by metres (m°). If purchased by the gallon, coverage is expressed in square feet (ft²). Latex paint brushes and rs clean up with water, but a little detergent speeds up the process and provides better cleaning. Rinse equipment thoroughly with clean water and lay brushes flat to dry.

Alkyd paint brushes and rollers can be stored overnight without cleaning if wrapped in airtight plastic. For complete cleaning, rinse in several in paint solvent. Rinse well in changes of clean paint thinner.

Once most of the paint is out, water ar possible. Comb brushes and rollers can be brushes and smooth bristles to cleaned with several washings

150 delegates to meet for 4 - H conference

Success is a journey, not a the keynote address at this year's 4-H Homemaking Club Conference at the University of Guelph, June 22-25. Most of the 150 delegates to this annual conference are enior girls 16 to 18 years old who are ready for university, ays Joyce Canning, a regional supervisor of home economists with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. try to encourage them to take closer look at themselves and a closer look at themselves and, give them some help in their own personal development." Career planning is one high-light of this year's conference, sponsored by the Ministry of Agriculture and Ford Discus-Agriculture and Food. Discussions include combining career with family life, having more than one career, along with tips on resume writing and interview techniques.

Six interest sessions at the four-day conference offer the young women a chance to fur-ther their interests in a certain ther their interests in a certain area or to try something dif-ferent. Subjects include music, photography, drama, public speaking, outdoor activities and creative visual workshops. There are also campus tours, a banquet and a session on stress and teenagers, coning dif-

ducted by doctoral student, Carolyn Lentz.

"The most important thing for the delegates," says Cannfor the delegates, says Caming, "is meeting people from other parts of the province and forming lasting friendships with people they have something in common with."

Delegates are chosen on a quota basis from 15,000 4-H Homemaking club members in the province.

"Leaders try to pick deser-ving delegates from different areas of each county or district who will be able to go back and share their experiences with other members

New IGA opens, store a "credit to the community"

Months of planning and hard work finally paid off for Bob and Mary Jane Henderson this past week as the new IGA store in Madoc was finally officially opened was finally officially opened last Thursday morning. A very large crowd of friends, associates and cus-tomers attended the open house held at the new store last Wednesday night and all were impressed with the beauty of the area's newest IGA store.

Ross Fleming was the guest speaker for the evening and he talked of the many changes he has seen in grocery shopping ir Madoc over the years. Each and every change had been an improvement over pre-vious stores, but this new store topped everything, he said.

Terry Pigden, Reeve of the Village of Madoc, talked of the Kincaid dynasty and then stated, "Everybody can be pleased and proud to can be pleased and proud to have a business of this magnitude in our village." Kal Kincaid, the master of ceremonies for the evening, compared the changes over the years to eggs and called the new store a Grade A extra large.

Doug Pigden, the presi-ent of the Madoc and dent District Chamber of Commerce said that while Madoc had no really large they did have the smaller tney did have the smaller businesses and industries that were hiring and ex-panding in the area. He cited farming, the talc mine and the IGA as prime examples.

Dwayne Welch, the owner of the recently built Marmora IGA store, may have summed it up best though. "It's a beautiful store and a real credit to the Henderson, when asked for his comments, said simply, "I'm over whelmed. Everyone has been just terrific derson smiles happily as the store is officially opened and Louella Phillips, who cut the ribbon, receives a kiss from Jack Kincaid at the Open House on Wednesday night.

Leahy Family coming

Saturday, July 10, is a day that everyone in Madoc and area should mark on their calendars right awa That is the day the Leahy Family, billed as Canada's foremost fiddling, stepdancing and singing family. District Recreation Centre for an evening of musical entertainment and dancing.

The show will begin at 8:30 p.m. and will feature musically inclined family Seven girls, three boys and mom and dad (that's the number that we'll see performing in Madoc al-though there is yet another young member of the family in the wings about to start in the wings about to start his musical career) make up the family that has enter-tained throughout Ontario. across Canada. New York state and Ireland. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for children, which includes the dance held later in the evening. Every-one that has seen the family perform before will certain-ly attend the event and, for those who have not seen the Leahy's perform, this even-ing will be a musical must.

Tickets can be purchased from any member of the arena board or at certain businesses in the Madoc

Rolling Readers gather no moss

This summer, you may find ROLLING READERS in your library or school, and they'll be so busy reading interesting and stimulating books, they'll have no time to gather moss.

ROLLING READERS are a group of keen, active boys and girls who enjoy learning about life from the words of such great authors us Blume, Mowat, Tolkien and

Through its summer reading club, the Regional Library System will help you find and encourage these young readers to become part of THE ROLLING READERS CLUB.

Any student who joins THE ROLLING READERS CLUB automatically re-ceives a minibookmarker, a membership card, a track record in which to record the title of each book read, and a marker to write their name on and place on the display poster.

If a ROLLING READER

finishes five books over the linishes live books over the summer, he or she receives an additional bonus: a coloring sheet of their very own. For the really ambi-tious ROLLING READER, who reads ten books, the Library will award him or her a button with the ROLLING READERS logo, and bold letters saying I'M A ROLLING READER, something any ROLLING READER would be proud to

As each book is read, the child moves his marker around the display poster at his own speed. At the end of the summer, the Library hopes to hold a party for all the ROLLING READERS who have read at least one

Eldorado becoming baseball hotbed

By ISABELLA SHAW

With any kind of luck at all, there will be two reports this, week from home base My report of last week did not make it for a variety of reasons. As reported last week, our Eldorado Beau-ties travelled to Springbrook on last weekend to partici-pate in the Peewee tournament This tournament had eight teams participating from areas like Norwood.

Carrying Place. Thurlow. Springbrook. Eldorado. Tweed and Belleville. The girls played a pery strong game in their first game coming away with a $5.11 win over Tweed. Perhaps this was because the girls were proudly wearing their new uniforms, which arrived at the park after the girls themselves had arrived

However, the game the ext morning was to be a different story, as they went down-to a 22-8 loss to Springbrook. The girls got a very shaky start in the first inning but settled. in to play a very strong game. This team is capable of playing chan ball and will be more than they are losing in the future. Their coach and manager will simply have to crack the whip a little bit

In their league game on Wednesday evening, we saw them lose a very close This sees their record at two wins and four losses in league play. They still have very beavy schedule with fifteen games to play

Our Bantam girls have had a couple of weeks off as the girls were busy in high ol exams. We will see a lot of action from these girls as they have a lot postponed games to make up. These ladies, known as up. These ladies, known as the B.G.'s have only played two games to date. They will be playing two games this week

Word also has it that the Eldorado Lassies played their first game this week. This was not confirmed yet at press time. Our new im. the Novices, played Madoc on Saturday at the noon hour and came away with a 14-8 loss. Coach John Griffin was very pleased they are playing pretty good ball. This team is made of seven and eight year old players. They will play Queensboro on Saturday Queensboro on next after T-Ball

Our Men's league got all of their games in for the week and saw some very close games if scores are any indication. On Friday June 11, Millbridge and O'Hara played to a 12-12 tie in nine innings. The Factory and the Eldorado Elders played to a tie in the first game on Sunday, June 13. Ivanhoe sent Queensboro home with a 13-3 loss. In the twilight game in the evening, Bannockburn defeated Tannery 6-3. On Friday evening June 18 Millbridge defeated Bannockburn 11-8. so it appears that the teams are pretty evenly balanced.

Men's games are played gery Friday evening at 7 p.m. and on Sunday afternoon and evening. So if you like to watch softball. regardless of who is play ing, travel to the Township Park on the weekend.

Several of the local residents travelled to Monreal on Sunday. June 13, on the annual Father's Day bus trip. They were treated to a very enjoyable game which Cubs in eleven innings

Atom boys looking better but they are still unable to come up with a win. They travelled to Frankford on Monday evening and saw a 1-0 lead go by the board. Eldorado scored early in the first and held this lead to the bottom of the third, when Frankford scored four. They then fell back into their old habits and allowed Frankford score seven runs in the fifth and seventh innings. El-dorado sequed twice more in the sixth. Final score was 18-3 for Frankford. The boys looked better on the field if they can just get their batters working and score a few more runs. Patrick Graham pitched very strong game for the boys. Marty Shaw is the catcher for the team.

Squirts were active with ne game this past They played to a 4-4 tie with Madoc on Thursday even-ing. On Thursday, their game with Stirling was cancelled. This leaves them with one win three losses and one tie. Peewees and Bantams are active as well, but no scores were report

Our field crew has been active this week. One lady stated that she almost ditched her car driving home from work on Friday. when she saw that our new towers were going up. The bases for all the lights are now in place and the lights will be in operation by the weekend. A very active group of volunteers were in place on Saturday morning and were kept very busy, leveling down the gravel for the infield and placing the wire for the backstop. When there is a large group of volunteers, work goes in a hurty. Many thanks to the lads for their help on Saturday and don't forget there will be at least one more week to finish the fencing. The sconer we get this finished, the sooner will be in use for all the

Part 2 - For less than $2,000 How would you like build your own sailboat for considerably less than $2,000? Better still, how $2,000? Better still, how would you and your family like to enjoy summerlong fun on the water, together, in a sailboat you built yourself? It can be done.

The Mirror Dinghy is probably the largest onedesign class in the world. There are over 60,000 boats in the various countries of the world, many of them in Canada, In a Mirror Dinghy you can get away fro all...glide over sun sparkled water on a lazy afternoon... beach on a little island where there is no one...pic-nic...drift back to shore in the sunset. Even if you have never sailed before, you can relax, your Mirror Dinghy practically sails herself.

And with the Mirror Dinghy kits now available, you can build your own sailboat in less than one hundred hours with nothing more than a drill and a pair more than a drill and a pair of pliers. Everything you need, including sails, is supplied. The only extras to buy are the fiberglass resin and the paint to finish the hull.

A finished Mirror Dinghy weighs less than most wives! At 98 pounds ready for rigging, the Mirror Dinghy can be easily transported on the roof of even the smallest car, but will carry up to 600 pounds of carry up to 600 pounds of passengers and gear. And don't overlook the versatil-ity of a Mirror. To go fishing, just take the mast down, haul-out the oars of hand a small outboard motor on the transom. not fight the battle alone. In fact, his influence within the federal cabinet seems to be diminishing with every week. He tries My goodness, he tries. He has been saying that mar keting boards help the consumer and throw statistics to prove it.

For instance, he says that from 1976 to 1981, all food prices rose by 75 per cent. But the prices of poultry and dairy products, regulated by national farm marketing boards, rose by only 53 per cent. He says Don Johnston was misinformed

But now he's got Trudeau contend with. How do you manure spreader? Can Eugene, the farmer's friend, continue to fight when the whole caucus appears to be against him? Nobody could argue that food prices have not contri buted to inflation. prices have gone up the

But not nearly as high as parliamentarian's salaries.

Food prices are only a minor key in the cacaphony of inflation and politicians are using marketing boards as a scapegoat for their own inadequacies. High interest rates, tight money and the entire economy are respon-sible for the dreadful conditions in Canada, not blame supply management is to use a red herring.

and assistance of the Canadian Wildlife Service, the agency that is supposed to protect our wildlife. Migratory birds such as the four-foot-tall herons are theoretically protected by a federal Act, which prohibits harassment of nesting birds or interference with active nest. But the same law allows a landowner to protect himself from financial loss. These provisions had been used by grain farmers to prevent waterfowl from feeding on their crops, but Dunnville farmer David Topolinsky took advantage of this loophole to scare the herons off their estimated 450 nests in his woodlot this spring. Since the herons twist branches from mature trees for nesting material, and can eventually kill trees with their excrement, they were lowering the commercial value of Mr. Topolinsky's woodlot. After being told that he couldn't legally cut trees containing heron nest. Topolinsky reacted by scaring away the birds with bangers, the noise-making devices used to keep birds away from fruit trees or r tender crops. Federal authorities co-operated ful-CWS even lending CWS also wanted to avoid heron problems. Apparently, the Canadian Wildlife Services has now given Topolinsky is not much when compared to other nations.

The feathers industry chicken, turkey, eggs - are produced by farmers on a strict formula, a cost-ofproduction system that alows the producer to get what he or she should for the products. They have the power to cut production or to increase production. It is the same power that every manufacturer in Canada has, nothing more. General Motors, General Electric, Electrohome, Uniroyal, you name it, all have exactly the same power. They figure out their pro-duce for the projected market.

Which is exactly what farmers are doing through their supply management boards.

Why is everyone making such a fuss about marketing boards now? They are legal and functioning well for the most part.

Farmers have used the legislative tools open to them. At least they didn't go on strike and half starve the nation. They did not withhold their services as the doctors have. They did not try to cripple the nation as some civil servants have

All they want is reasonable return on their labor and investment. They toms of poor soil structure is low yield. Yields stay the same despite better man-agement practices, superior bybrids, and improved bybrids, and improved weed control and fertility regimes.

"Eighty per cent of our corn producers were disappointed with their yields last year and they can't blame it all on the weath-" says Dr. Daynard. Some farmers may also notice it's becoming harder to prepare a seedbed each year. It takes more sophisticated tillage skills to ac-complish the same job that took only one pass across the field 10 years ago. They may notice that the soil erodes more each year.

Crusting is another symp tom of declining soil struc-ture. Farmers may find that they have trouble with seedling emergence if there heavy rain after 3 planting.

says Dr. Daynard. "Crops such as perennial grasses, legumes such as alfalfa or red clover, and winter cereals leave the soil in excellent condition for the following crop.

Research indicated that any crop will yield better if it follows any other crop. If corp. soybeans or white corn, soybeans or white beans are grown after a soil-improving crop, farmers can expect a 20 per cent yield improvement over ontinuous cropping.

One of the major roadblocks against crop rotation is the misconception that net profits will be reduced if non-row crops are grown.

Dr. Daynard says that this is a false way of looking at the situation.

"The way to make proper economic analysis is to look at the net benefit of the entire crop sequence says Dr. Daynard. "It conceivable that by planting corn after a forage crop you may obtain more than-double the net profit. Instead of netting a $50 per acre profit, as with continu ous corn, you should realize more than $100 per acre from corn after forages, because of higher yields. fewer pest problems, and reduced nitrogen requirements. It's surprising how profitable a non-profitable crop can be.

If the rotation crop only breaks even, and you receive more than double the return from the corn crop in the following year. vou are in an improved economic position, relative to continuous corn, explains Daynard. In terms of the added benefits of labor distribution, equipment use, spreading risks, and preservation of soil struc-ture, farmers can't afford not to consider crop rota

Fishing takes care

Fishing from a boat m seem a quiet and perfectly safe sport, but some of the risks it involves are dramat illustrated by the number of drownings due to capsizings and falls overboard.

Landing a fish is exciting moment and fisher men often forget the most basic safety rules. They lean over the gunwale or stand on one side of the boat. causing it to capsize or them to fall overboard. With practice and proper tech-nique one can uaually land a fish while sitting

The Canada Safety Coun cil recommends not to change places while in deep water. Wait until the boat comes to the shore or moves to shallow water. When moving around in the boat stav low and centered, with hands grasping both gun-wales, and step along the keel, not on the seats. Although approved life saving devices are required for every person in the boat. it is a safe practice for fishermen to wear personal flotation devices that will keep them afloat should they fall overboard

Podstrippers are the new est innovation in the har sesting of processing peas.
These machines have been n the developmental stages several, years undergo ing continual modifications The combines are manufac-tured in the U.S.A. by three different companies - Chis holm Ryder Co. FMC Cor poration and Hamechek

Although the combines still require improvements, they do provide advantages over the conventional pull type harvesters.

The first podstripper in Ontario was commercially operated in 1978; by 1980 operated in 1978. By 1980, the foumber in Ontario had increased to seven. These self propelled combines strip the pods from the plants and then thresh and clean the peas using of stem of revolving beaters and streens. With the older

FARM CREDIT COR FARM CREDIT COR PORATION REPORTS BUSY YEAR The Farm credit *Corporation reports one of *its busiest years in 1981 82 with demand for long term farm credit ex-ceeding its budget despite two interest rate increases during the year. The Asso ciation approved a total of 4.948 loans under the Act. for a total of $499,782,100 during the year. Included in this total were 382 loans under the Special Farm Financial Assistance program. In Onfario there were 1,048 loans approyed under the Farm Credit Act, plus an additional 128 loans under the Special Farm Financial Assistance program. The average toan size decreased across Canada from $108,587 to $101,007. Approximately 21.9 per cent of the funds approved were for the purchase of new farm units, while funds to repay landsecured debt increased from 12.3 per cent to 16.4 per cent, and those approved to repay other debt rose from 12 per cent to 18.5 per cent. Of significance, late in the year, was the passage of an amendment to the Act which would give the Farm Credit Corporation access to funds from sources other than the Government of Canada. This change should allow the Corporation secure additional funds and thus more adequately meet the requirements of the Canadian farmer

Renovations can win awards

A dairy barn converted into luxury apartments, an old stone schoolhouse turned into residential units for senior citizens, a schoolyard made into a neighbor-hood park - these were only a few, of the imaginative renovations that took prizes last year in an Ontrio government sponsored housing renovation contest.

The Ontario Renews Awards competition is now open once again. All Ontario residents who have done a substantial housing reno-vation within the past three years are invited to enter.

years are invited to enter.
The competition is sponsored by the Housing Renovation and Ehergy Conservation Unit of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing. The idea behind it is to encourage the preservation of existing housing and buildings, with a view to saving costs, on construction and energy.

"The conversion renovation of our existing housing stock is becoming an increasingly importan part of housing policy." says Municipal Affairs and Housing Minister Claude Bennett. "Existing build-ings become more and more valuable as a resource, and as energy and construction , we must work constantly to preserve and adapt them to our changing circumstances."

Just about anybody in Ontario who has done a substantial renovation is eligible to enter: homeowners, architects, do-it-your-selfers, designers, builders, developers -- even munici-palities. The only qualification is that the renovation has to contain a housing unit or have some impact on the residential community. It also has to have been done within the last three years, and either be con pleted or in the final stages of completion by the July 5 deadline for entries

The renovation certainly doesn't have to be as dramatic as the examples in the introduction; in fact. most of last year's top awards went to straightfor top ward. functional renova mostly. There's no cash award, but each of the winners receives a hand some ceramic and metal on the front of the award-winning project. are nine categories altogether, with an award in each category, plus honor-able mentions and certificates of achievement. Some categories include: single-family renovation (a of homeowners and do-it-yourselfers would be included here); single-to-multiple family (a singlefamily dwelling converted to a duplex, four-plex, etc.); multiple housing (an apart ment building); non-resi-dential-to-residential (e.g., a warehouse or school converted into residential units). There are also categories for community renovation and for government policies that facilitate

The contest was held for the first time last year and attracted 58 entries. Among last year's winners: The single-family housing prize was won by an architect who converted a typical two-storey semi-detached house in Ottawa into a modern, functional house that represented the ultimate insulation and noise reduction. The City of Toron an award in the public-sector improvement category for its imaginative transformation of Parkdale Collegiate's schoolyard into a friendly neighborhood park, complete with water fountains and picnic tables.

In the non-residential to residential category, the winning renovation was an old stone schoolhouse in Cambridge coverted into 49 apartments for senior citizens. Winning an honorable mention in the same cate. gory was a dairy barn in Cornwall converted into 15 energy-efficient nents

There are five main criteria by which entries are judged.

1. Appropriateness: The should reflect the purpose for which it was designed Innovativeness: It should be fresh, imaginative, original.

3. Cost effectiveness: It should be efficient in terms of saving money on construction and energy.

4. Comprehensiveness in going beyond the immedirequirements: The renovator should go a little beyond what he set out to do

· for example, put in bigger windows than he originally intended to make use of solar energy.
5. Transferability: The renovation should be a ble for applying elsewhere. The judges won't be impressed by a sundeck built over a waterful, for in-stance, because so few people could make use of that idea.

Each of the five major criteria is then judged in including several areas. appropriate siting, lands-caping, functional layout, use of materials, sensitivity to special needs (for in stance, how well a renovation accommodates the needs of the disabled and elderly, etc.).

the elderly, etc.).

The judges include professional builders, architects, landscape architects, developers and municipal officials who represent a wide wide refressional. officials who represent a wide variety of professional associations in Ontario. The Ministry of Munici-pal Affairs and Housing has produced a brochure that sets out all the rules of the contest and contains the official entry form. It's available from the clerk in city and town halls across province.

Don't take weed control for warns specialist granted

RIDGETOWN - Weeds all damage to crops and can reduce crop yields by as much as 30 per cent, says Rudy Brown, head of the horticul-ture and biology section at the Ridgetown College of Agricul-tural Technology.

Unlike insects and disease which occur more sporadicalweeds appear every year and are more easily taken for granted. Annuals, such as rag-weed, crabgrass, foxtail, or pigweed, can reduce a yield by 20 per cent, while perennial weeds can be more devastating, sometimes destroying more than 30 per cent of a crop.

On the average, it's estimated that even with the very sophisticated methods of controlling weeds that we use now, we likely lose about 10 to 15 per cent of our total crop to competition from weeds — competition for sunlight, nutrients and water," says

Weeds may also become alternate hosts for insects and diseases or can contaminate a reducing its quality. crop, reducing its quality. Nightshade, for example, can discolor white beans which must then be discarded. Other weeds can cause poor harvest-ing conditions, resulting in inefficient grain recovery efficient grain recovery.

Between 75 and 80 per cent of all chemicals used in agriculture are designed for the control of weeds, says Brown.
There has been a lot of progress in the development and testing of herbicides in the last few years, but the complexity of weed control and the large varieties of weeds create a constant request for further information

It is especially difficult to develop chemicals to control weeds in smaller crops, he says. Testing herbicides for a relatively small crop like tomatoes is expensive, while the potential for return on in-vestment is limited. Research money from government and chemical companies is more likely to be used to test berbicides on larger hectarage crops or the more popular grain

Most herbicides are tested for at least six years and research is continually underway to examine combinations of herbicides to improve weed control while decreasing the amount of herbicide used.

But the best way to control weeds, Brown says, is with a total weed control system. Us-ing herbicides, cultivation or any combination of weed control methods, farmers can in-crease their efficiency and reduce their reliance on one method of killing weeds.

type of fencing in operation, but, I am going to save it for another time. Right now my mood is in keeping with the rainy weather.

We hear a lot of talk about human rights, na-tionality, and at this point I tionality, and at this point I seem to draw a blank. Right off the top of your head try to think of a half a dozen or so. There are a great many we take for granted: owning a home, a car, raising children etc. But what of the means for attaining these things, and are these rights really equal for all Canadians? Much of your reply will depend on vour upbringing and the lifestyle you live.

Now to many of us a home in the twenty to forty thousand dollar range is entirely adequate, a yearly income of fifteen to twenty five thousand is satisfactory but what is the minimum wage? Three twenty five per hr. X 40. - $150. X 52 - $6,760. Now then if anyone is willing to work for this wage at today's prices, then by jumpins they must have some ambition. It certainly is no incentive because it costs them the same prices for a vehicle, insurance of all kinds, groceries, all the necessities of life. Now this person, especially with a family cannot even think of owning a home. Many in ociety are able to spend money pleasure in the period of a.

Now if this person is mployed, he-she must be vital part of something. It doesn't matter if only sweeping Next the usual argument: Well, they have the right to get a better paying job. get a Where?

Welfare, a great and wonderful thing, maybe. I have not one iota of argument with anyone receiving social benefits if it is necessary. I haven't forgot ten the government school ing loan I received when I needed it, and I firmly believe it to be an absolute necessity for those disabled unable to perform gainful work

I was totaly flabbergasted the other day to hear, via a U.S. report, that some of our corporate presidents receive a mere one hundred twenty five to seven hundred thousand dollars salary per year. Well, at least their ome tax is high, if they haven't figured out a dodge.

Yet under our laws all of the above mentioned have equal rights. Corporate heads. I agree, have a lot of responsibility, but without a great many good people under them what are they. Vesteven the lowly sweeper has to do a good job in order to complete the picture.

We have regulations for everything else, why not some for maximum wages profit margins? Why humiliate dians, making them apply for the welfare paid out of the higher income brackets. Give them back their pride. Would it not be better to pay these people at the top a little less, stop taking so much in taxes and pay others directly to work

To me my rights as a Canadian entitle me to a fair share of the wealth gained from this country in which we live, according to my input in the production or maintenance of this wealth. It would seem that some of our past and present politi-cians were far more con-cerned with current dev range thinking or pla It would seem in the past few years it was more important to have a new flag, a rewritten song or to have a special plane fly man and some paper all the way to Dear Old England. Certainly I have a lot of pride in my country, but it would seem there was far more emphasis on these than the necessities ings Oh well, at least Pierre will go down in history.

go down in history.

Wage and price controls:

If they are done on a percentage basis for salary, ten per cent of $6.600 or ten cent of $600,000. Well?

Do you know what your rights are in an out of the ordinary situation? Are they the same for everyone? Yes of course they are the same for everyone. The problem is that only a few, in comparison to population have input in the making of the laws. We have to trust our governing people, but we must also monitor their decisions and object before it becomes law, not after. Once it becomes law you have equal rights under it.

We do, have a right to will object to laws that wrongly affect our lifestyle We have a right to criticise decisions of our governing bodies, not to abuse or be a nuisance . . . people will value These not what they are unaware of. For instance, the award-ing of a contract to another ntry and one canable of doing the work right here.

Did you do or say anything?
I don't pretend to know the answers. I do know over the years a great many factories have been put out of business by foreign or ousmess by foreign concerns. You can't blame the buyers. Why pay ten if you can get if for five? International trade is International trade is completely out of my sphere, but I sometimes wonder if our ignorance in these matters doesn't allo a lot of cover up, f up, for someones mistakes.

As I said, my mood fits the weather. Hopefully the good and concerned peo with the knowhow will able to avert what looks like a gloomy future.

Remember your rights.

Pand C Sports keep on winning

P & C Sports picked up two more wins last week, winning over Madoc Dixie Lee Frankford.

The game with the Dixie Lees, was more of a fun affair, as the boys split teams and had a close game. P & C won over Dixie with the final score 4-2.

P & C Sports chalked up a big win Thursday night with a 12-2 score over Frankford. Scott Chapman and Duncan Kosziwka shared pitching duties for P & C, striking out nine batters and walking five Top batters for the big red machine were Kelly Cook, (a home run and a double). John Hanley (home run, 1 single), Lorne Browson (3 singles), Peter Ringlemen (1 triple and 1 double). Kelly's home run was his fifth of the year, bringing his batting average up to 775.

Next home game for the boys will be Friday. June 25, when they will meet Tweed at 7 p.m. P & C will be travelling to Carrying Place on June 28 for a tournament and coach Richard Chapman expects to find out just how good his team is, as there will be teams from other leagues there to compete against.

Peewee Girls get it together

Last Thursday night at the Madoc Ball Park, the Peewee Girls added an important win to their record by defeating an unbeaten Frankford team 18-14. The girls pitcher, Jill McMaster, pitched an excellent game. Homeruns were scored by Barbie Bruce and Sherri White-man. Center fielder, Tracey Ross, ended the game with the winning catch in the top of the 7th.

The season record so far is three wins and four losses. Home games are played on Thursday nights at 6:30 against Frankford. Springbrook, Queensboro and Eldorado. Fan support is welcome

Township field news

By ISABELLA SHAW

Although registration is still open for T-Ball on morning, a final Saturday count of registrations re-ceived by the Township recreation society shows a total of 161 boys and girls from 4 to 21 have paid their registration for the year 1982. This is a marked over previous vears. In only two years of organized operation, the Madoc Township Field and Recreation Society has seen a remarkable upsurge in the interest being shown in softball. There will be township teams participating in provincial playdowns this year. These playdowns start in July. There are eight teams in the Centre ing the Township. These are all involved in a twenty game schelule per league. We also have a team of Novice ball players who are playing in a three team Novice league. This means

Thursday night, the Min Thursday night, the with utemen travelled to Spring-brook to play the Rams (Juvenile team) and were lucky to escape with a 4-3 The Rams picked up a win. The Rams picked up a 5.0 lead with one run in the third inning and two runs in the fifth inning. Mike Johnson supplied most of the power for the Rams with two singles and a triple.

Daryl Kramp opened the top of the sixth with a single and two outs later, he was on third base. Dave Fleming singled to drive in Kramp. Robert Nickle followed with a single and Brian Arm-strong singled to drive in Fleming. With the score 3-2 in the Ram's favour, runners on first and third and two out. Harold Bailey was intentionally walked to get to Charlie Wannamaker. Now. Charlie being our top hitter, had struck out and popped out so far in the ne and appeared to be no threat. Well, Charlie drove one through the second baseman's legs driving in Nickle with the tieing run. Armstrong: coming from second, barrelled by third when I hollered whoa! saw the throw was going to the plate.) The Springbrook fielder seeing Armstrong stop well off third threw to third base. Armstrong see-ing he couldn't get back, to third continued on home (waiting for the throw to bounce off his head or shoulders...). The throw didn't come. When I looked back at the third baseman. he was living flat on back? Now dear scorers · do we give Charlie a run batted in? Do we give Armstrong a stolen base? Do we give none of the above? Armstrong's run gave the Minutemen a 4-3 victory.

Army picked up his fourth win against no defeats. He gave up six hits, walked one and struck out four.

Efforts to reduce Moira arsenic will continue

The provincial govern-ment, through its Ministry the Environment, has made a firm mitment to and improve program to prevent toxic arsenic from entering the Moira River from the old Deloro Mining and Smelting At a public meeting in the Deloro Community Hall last week, Chris Ramshaw, who manages the cleanup project for the ministry. ex plained the problem and proposed solutions. The problem began more than 100 years ago when gold was discovered and mined on the 300-acre riverside property. The gold-bearing ore in the area contained high levels of arsenic up to 50 per cent.

A refinery was set up and, in the early days, arsenic-laden tailings were simply dumped. Later, pesticide operation was stablished to make use of the arsenic commercially.

No one knows how many thousands of tons of arsenic are in the soil here." Mr. Ramshaw said, 'but it would be physically and financially impossible to either dig it up and dump it elsewhere or to seal it off in any way. There were more than 400 nen employed in the mines. refinery and smelter for some time, so the arsenic output had to be substant-

The problem with the in-ground arsenic is that it is water-soluble. When rain water or runoff passes through the ground, it picks up arsenic before it seeps to the Moira river.

Although arsenic has undoubtedly been leaching into the river for decades. the situation did not become critical until cows began dying and people in the area became, sick

Continued exposure to the poison can cause ner-vous disorders, cancer, heart disease and skin

The owners of the site, Erickson Construction Company of Ottawa were ordered to clean up the site after tests revealed arsenic levels in the river up to 50 times the acceptable level.

The company took some steps to correct the situa-tion including installation of a treatment plant for ground water. In 1977 the ministry, which had begun a testing program on river water, imposed more stringent controls and the company replied that it could not afford to put any more work or money into the site.

In 1979, following pres-are from local residents and their elected representand their elected represent-atives, the ministry moved into the site under the provisions of the Environmental Protection Act to begin the massive job of controlling arsenic levels in water flowing from the site into the river

Since 1979 the ministry has spent a total of $575,000 Ketcheson - 88 pts.

The other competitors in the competition received a score from 87 down to 83.

On preliminary work on the property and on the treatment plant to isolate and 4change the chemical structure of the arsenic so that it is no longer water-soluble. This form of arsenic can be disposed of in the "red mud" area on the east side of the river. The $575,000 has been billed to the Erickson Company, since the problem originates on property they still own, but none has been repaid.

Mr. Ramshaw estimates a further $1.5 million will have to be spent to build proper control facilities and that it will require $200,000 a year to operate the a year to operate the treatment plant. Outlining future plans, Mr. Ramshaw said the first step would be to build berms or dikes to contain water that is exposed to the arsenic. This would create a lagoon located right over the "hot spot" on the property. Water could be pumped out at a controlled rate treated and returned to the river.

The project manager said the pilot treatment, is capable of removing 99.5 per cent of the arsenic from contaminated water. The problem remains, however, to contain all water that passes through contan ted soil and treat it before it is allowed to get into the river. Mr. Ramshaw feels the berms and holding lagoon will accomplish this. The possibility remains though, that unknown un remains. derground water sources or channels could present further difficulites.

There was a good turnout of concerned gitizens and municipal officials for the meeting, which was quiet in meeting, which was quiet in comparison to some prev-ious ones There were, however, some questions. Deloro Reeve Clete Green wanted to know if there would be measures taken to keep" children out of the holding lagoon Yes. Mr Ramshaw said, an eight foot chain link fence. asurer Bernice wondered about Clerk-treasurer Young wondered about danger from airborne arsen ic dust. She was told that tests showed the presence of arsenic was well below acceptable levels.

Another questioner asked if arsenic could have any effect on fish in the Moira system. The answer was that arsenic does not build up in fish tissues as does mercury In conclusion, Mr. Ramshaw said the new facilities should reduce contamina-tion to acceptable levels (0.5 parts per million). At present they are about 0.157 parts parts per million.

To his knowledge, Mr Ramshaw said, the Deloro treatment plant is the first of its kind in the world.

Bridgewater TMR to be integrated into school system

By ROSS LEES

Several months of study by a committee made up of teachers, parents and interested adults on the pro-posed closing of the Bridgewater Trainable Mentally Retarded (TMR) School has resulted in a proposed relocation and integration of the students from that school into the regular school system over a period of years, according to a recent report accepted by the Hastings County Board of Education.

A general summary of the study committee report revealed that integration of TMR students in regular schools was a goal to be pursued in the best interest of the students, being served. All twenty areas contacted or visited, where integration was taking place, reported gains for the taking students involved as they became part of a school community. The ultimate of integration would be a healthy acceptance of ne a neathy acceptance of all people, with more attention being paid to similarities than to differ-ences. The Tweed elemen-tary schools S.H. Connor Tweed-Hungerford provide the best option as initial step toward integration The Bridgewater TMR School Study Committee was formed in response to a was formed in response to a recommendation of the Long Range Planning Com-mittee of the Hastings County Board of Education in its May 1981 report which recommended that the board designate for closing the Bridgewater TMR School on July 1, 1983. The committee undertook to study two key questions: What would be the educational effects of relocating Bridgewater's students? relocation were to take place, what would be the most appropriate setting?

As deliberation pro gressed, it becamé increasingly apparent that integra tion in itself is a goal that should be pursued in the best interests of the stu-dents being served. This objective would be desirable regardless of whether or not the present facility is to be retained by the Hasting County Board of Education

As a result of taking this position, the focus of the committee's work shifted from a consideration of consolidation of space to a consideration of the best possible environment for integration to occur

The committee felt that integration of TMR students would in the end be better for everyone involved, although the committee stressed that they did not recommend that TMR stu-dents be placed in regular classrooms Their recommendations provided for school within a school, adding that '....integration will be largely social, in an attempt to foster under-standing and acceptance mong all students. There would be beneficial aspects for everyone in-volved. As part of a larger school unit, TMR students will have access to broader facilities such as library-resource centre. gymnasium and shop, as well as the materials and / equipment available for such programs. In addition, lifeskills could be taught in a realistic community setting that is easily accessible.

The report goes on to stress that the most impor-tant opportunity for TMR students is that of becoming part of a school community and learning to live side by. side with a large number of other children and adults. This provides much more realistic preparation for later life as contributing members of the larger community.

For regular students, the committee felt that awares of handicapped people their special needs can only be developed through interaction with them. The report says, "The erosion of the myth that retarded people are somehow less important, less worthy than others gould eventually lead to an enhanced community · a spirit that takes o account all members.

For the teachers, it was felt that they would have resources and their programs would be enriched by the sharing that is possible among teachers. It is hoped that daily exposure to the TMR students and teachers would foster understanding the similarities and differences in teaching would foster understanding of the similarities and differences in teaching TMR students.

Seven options were considered by the committee. The first option was to continue the Bridgewater operation as is but, as the committee's views changed to reflect its conviction that integration was desirable. Bridgewater did not meet the critical social and educational criteria. The second option was to move the Bridgewater stu-dents to Centre Hastings quate space would be available with some adjust-ments of the CHSS pro-gram, but critical gram, but critical facilities (shops, gymnasía, home economics area, etc.) could not be made available in the forseeable future. CHSS forseeable future. CHSS would not be age-appropriate for primary-junior students. Senior students could be integrated in the future at CHSS allowing future at CHSS allowing them to move to the school with their social peers. Madoc Public School was considered for the third option but space was not available, as was the case in two separate options considered for Marmora Public chool. Option six considered a Tweed school for the pri-mary-junior TMR students and CHSS for the senior students. The difficulties with CHSS for the immed iate future applied. Current enrollment trends are expected to change this situation, therefore, it is an option to be sought in the future. Option seven dealt with Tweed Hungerford School for the senior TMR students and S.H. Connor School for the primary junior TMR students. This unique com bination of junior and senior schools located adjacent to each other is the best option as an initial step toward integration," the report said. The educational and social goals of integration can be met. It can provide accommodation and facil ities for an extended period. Fewer alternations would be required than in other options considered. Trans other portation could be adjusted It was also noted by the committee that the concept of integration is not a new one for the staff and students of the Tweed schools because of several programs (eg. Operation Awareness a project of structured exchange be tween the schools; A volun teer program which has been in place for three years on a rotating basis whereby senior students from Tweed spend several days each year at Bridgewater; plus other special events and common facilities for physi cal education and industrial arts.)

Cost was another major consideration for the committee and according to figures in the report in conjunction with the appropriate departments of Hastings County Board of Education, the differences in cost to ratepayers would be minimal or even de-creased. In addition, the Bridgewater property could be sold or leased. According to othe report, there are several alternatives for transportation ranging from slightly less than present to approximately $11,000 more per year. Alternatives should be considered with regard to needs of students. in transit and cost.

While cost was a major consideration, the committee made one other point. 'The steps that have to take place before actual reloca-tion of the students and during the first weeks of integration are critical ones If the project is not planned and executed with extreme care, the psychological costs could be in excess of any savings realized. This would ean appropriate prepara on of staff and students of all schools and communication with the Tweed community. Atti-See Bridgewater on page 4

Bill Mathews lays down a bunt in the ball game on Sunday against the CJBQ No-Stars. He demonstrated his own brand of Billy Ball with the oversize bat and then, when the CJBQ team felt certain of an out at first, was played in Eldorado and Bill simply ran to third and was well worth seeing, even was called safe. The game if it did end in a 10-10 tie.

No-Stars, Eldors tie

According to CJBQ radio station, the baseball game played at Eldorado on Sundas was a tie (10-10) and there wasn't very many spectators who would argue that fact, because it was practically impossible for anyone to know exactly what happened on a play-by-play basis throughout the game is known that every body had a good time and, while the No-Stars got off to a slow start, they prvoed quick enough that they could adapt to any situation Lance Jeffery, the No Stars catcher, was on the receiving end of two grapewas on the fruit league pitches as he tried to bunt once and then when Bill Curtis sliced through one just before Lance tried to catch it.

Bill mathews gave the No Stars a lesson in Billy Ball Eldorado style as he came to bat with a slightly larger than regulation size bat and, when he hit the ball and was in danger of being thrown out at first, he detoured and went to third where he was called safe That's when the score-keeper tossed the scoresheet into the air and refused to work for the rest of the game.

Antics like these took place on a regular basis throughout the game and, while it added to the onfusion, it also added to the enjoyment for those who could sit back and watch

what was going on, which of indluded . some outfielders

It was obvious to all that what the No-Stars lack in baseball skills, they make up for in good spirit. If you get a chance to see them again, it is well worth

Smith and Meraw. They added yet another in the bostom of the second when Forestell scored. Reeves and Bateman scored two more in the bottom of the third to put Madoc into a 6-2 lead. Reeves scored again in the bottom of the fifth to give Madoc a five-run lead. Willemsen scored in the top of the seventh to give the Juniors one more run. Final score was 7-3 in favor of Madoc. Franks was on the mound for Eldorado and Sexsmith was on the mound for Madoc. He recorded cleven strike outs.

In Eldorado, the two teams met again and saw Madoc again the victors Sexsmith was again on the ound for Mador while Gray and Franks shared the pitching duties for Eldora-do. Although there were a few obstacles in the path in center field, both teams adjusted well and there were several nice plays in

The play of the game was made by the Madoc left fielder in the bottom of the seventh when he drop kicked a pass to second base to catch Mason attempting to reach second on what h thought was a double. Perhaps these Madoc boys play a little bit of rugby on the side

Madoc scored one in the bottom of the first when Lahey tripled and was then scored by Reeves, who ngled with two out. No runs were scored second. Madoc added three more in the third when, with two out. Sexsmith walked. Lebow singled and Bateman *scored both when scored both when he tripled. He scored when Gray singled.

In the top of the fourth. Grav connected for a round tripper when he put the ball over to the base of the new backstop of the other diamond. Madoc got this back in the bottom of the fourth when Meraw, who had tripled, scored when Sexsmith tripled. Bateman and Forestell scored in the bottom of the fifth when Lahey drove them home. In the top of the sixth, Sexsmith tripled and later cored when Lebow knocked him home. This was to end was to see their final tally at eight. However, Eldorado was not finished yet. Franks reached on an error by the catcher. Reid flew out, Shaw then doubled and Franks was thrown but the plate. Gray singled. Robinson reached on an error. This play saw Shaw score the Cheddars second Toms then flew out to end the rally. Mason then led off the seventh with a single. (actually it would have been a double had it not been for the drop kick pass mentioned earlier which enabled him to be second). This seemed to deflate the team as the next two batters went down in order

Next game for the team is Monday night in Tweed against OtterCreek and then July 1st they are on July 1st, they are scheduled to play a double header against Eldorado Combines in Eldorado, the first of many games sche duled for the new diamond

Big crowd watched donkeyball

the big news to report for the week from around home base is the big game baseball was played on Sunday afternoon June 20. This event drew the biggest rowd of sightseerers that the new township diamond has seen to date. There was a huge crowd in attendance and the only was that one could be guaranteed a seat was to be one of the participants in the game Not all of the donkeys were to operative as some of the Then players could attest. placers could aftest. Then there was the left fielder's donkes that was very co-operative; he would stand and wait until one was ready to mount and then simply start going in circles.

There was Jenny, Beauty Dancer and Patches, that were used by the base runners. These were not always willing to be ridden on the bases. Some simply refused to move, no matter the amount of bribing, and there was plenty of that in the form of carrots, apples and even sugar cubes and even sugar cubes. Others allowed the rider to mount before showing their true colors. The rider would be removed from position. politely over the head and one donkey even went on strike by lying down at home base

It was a very enjoyable day and one that was enjoyed by young and old alike. Some of the young children even had donkey rides after the game. Other donkeys participating were Pedro at first. Bernie at second. Preacher Jack at second. Preacher Jack at third and Lightening at short stop. Fielders were Henry. Midnite and Fred. The donkeys are owned and were handled by the Gars Kelly family of Malone This was just the first of many bookings that Gary has for this year. So if you ssed the game on Sunbookings. Players involved were the Combine team and representatives of other men's teams in the league. Players included George Wood Carl Osborne, Larry Ken McCormack. Burnside. Lloyd David Cyril Shaw. Lynn Reid and Doug Lake. These men represented the El-dorado Combines, the team that was the victors by a score of 7.5

Players on the other team Players on the other team included Philip Foley. Ken Wannamaker, Bruce Gor, den. George Whyte, Rac-burn Ribinson, Rick Walters. Tom Bruce. Robert Evan. Joe Cournvea. Doug McCov. David McCov. Alan Govier. Wavne Preston Denis Wood and Brian Robinson. I believe this covers all the participants A hearty voice of thanks go to all who worked so hard to make this game a success. Our Master of Cerem for the day was Grant Ketcheson. He gave us a very colorful description of the game. Our PA equip-ment was supplied by Ray I widdy and it too added much to the day. Our booth was open and kept very huss thanks to all the ladies who supplied a hand in the

The day also included three games in the Town ship Men's Fun League game before Donkey hall was won by Lannery over the team from O'Hara. The game following the donker ball was won by the Factory. They defeated Queensboro. In the even-ing, two undefeated teams played and saw the team from Ivanhoe send the Eldorado Elders home with a 9.0 loss

The Eldorado Lakers went down to defeat in both their games this week but they are beginning to swing the bat and also score some runs. They initiated the new township diamond when they hosted the team from Springbrook. They lost 21-6. On Tuesday evening, they visited Springbrook and played a much stronger game, coming up with their most runs of the year. Final score was 24-18. The boys are wearing new hats which were donated by Gerald Pack Now with the addition the very near future, they will be dressed in complete matching uniforms weeks ago, our Squirts are sporting new pants which came into being by gen erous help from the Ban nockburn community. Mrs Hoftyzer would like to extend a vote of thanks to those who so generously donated even though they had no children involved and to those who helped with the bottle drive. Also a word of thanks goes to Tom Bruce who sponsored the extra ball sweaters needed to give every boy a sweater

This has to be the largest team in the association, as they are carrying the maximum of sixteen players and all players get a chance to participate in all games. This is the advantage of the league rule which enables free substitution and all players in the batting order. The team's games for the week were both cancelled

Our B.G.'s were back into on this week and showed the effects of their two week lay off as they were handily defeated by Campbellford It didn't help when they were matched against a very strong Midget team either No other minor team has reported results so no reports to give. The Peewee team (girls) had a practice on the new diamond on Wednesday evening. That Wednesday evening, ris-is the girls who were not involved in the grade six graduation. Manager Betty Wood said they looked very good. Both 'their games were postponed this week due to school events.

Only two games were played this week in the ladies' division. Most were postponed due to wet playing surfaces or to the rain itself. On Monday evening, the Phillies defeat-ed the Bannockburn Angels 9-6. On Wednesday even-ing, the same two teams reversed the decision when the Angels came out the

Week's feature team: Eldors

Formerly known as the oldtimers, the team is presently known as the Eldorado Eldors. They are wearing new sweaters of yellow trimmed with green. These were sponsored by I and W Blackburn Trucking of Eldorado. Some of the men were heard to remark at the game that it must be the new sweaters that were making the difference as they sent their opposition home with a 21 9 defeat.

The boys, who had never had a practice, showed that they can still hold their own on the ball field. Carl Osborne was on the mound for the winners with seven strikeouts and walking only two batters. Seven safe hits were also given up.

Raeburn Robinson was the catcher handling Carl's pitches. Other membe s of the team are the Curtis brothers. Allan, Bill and Bob. Cyril Shaw, George White Lloyde Holmes, Tom Bruce. George Robinson.

Fred Grant Ketcheson, Bailey. Allan Franks and another pair of brothers, Lee and Mel Johnson. Their opposition for the game was Tannery.

Marketing specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food sug-gest you'll find fresh Ontar-io honey at farmers. honey at farmers' markets and roadside stands. Take a drive through the countryside and you'll find many signs advertising fresh honey for sale.

Most Ontario honey is sold in liquid or creamed form. The liquid honey is extracted from the honey comb and strained. To make creamed honey, the liquid honey is seeded with finely granulated honey. Creamed honey has a smooth, fine texture that spreads easily. Also available is comb honey. This is the natural product made by the bees in the hive. It's sealed in wax and is usually cut and sold in small pieces.

Honey is made from the nectar gathered from different blossoms. Depending ent blossoms. Depending upon the blossom chosen, the honey will be a light or dark color. Nectar gathered from the flowers of clover, alfalfa, basswood and fireweed results in honey usually classified as white honey. Darker-colored honeys are classified as golden, amber or dark, and these are mixtures of nectars gathered from gol-denrod and buckwheat. In Ontario, most of the honey is made from the nectar gathered from the flowers of clover.

Check to see if the honey has been pasteurized, espe-cially if you're planning to store it at home. Pasteurization destroys the yeasts that may cause fermentation. Once pasteurized, honey will keep almost indefinitely when stored at room tem-perature, in a dry place.

Study describes pit reclamation

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources has re-leased a study, conducted by the University of Guelph. which outlines ways to turn gravel pits into productive farmland and evaluates past gravel pit rehabilitation efforts.

'I am already impressed by the aggregate industry's rehabilitation efforts." Ontario Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope said recently. "This document recently. "This documen will be of significant value to the many gravel pit operators undertaking re-habilitation programs.

"As I said to the Annual Convention of the Aggregate Producers Association last March 4, it has taken England 30 years to accomplish in pit rehabilitation what we have done in 10." The Minister said: "This

'Plus cows' a big asset

By PHIL MCEWEN Animal Science Section Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology Flow often have you heard

How often have you heard the comment "she's a big plus in my herd, she'il do the same for you"? Often dairy consignment sales will advertise that every animal has a plus BCA above herd average. The plus cow is a very basic idea, but one which may need finer tuning. A cow's performance is controlled by management, genetic make-up, and the interaction between these two

Management practices greatly determine the devia tion from herd average. If a cow has some genetic potential, she probably can be managed to create a plus record. Preferential treatment is something every owner is guilty of. Each dairyman has a favourite cow This can create an advantage with deviation from herd average. There are a number of ways to enhance milk production. Some common ways are box stall housing, protected lipid feeding to an individual cow, hormonal treat ment is forgivable, bu remember these factors may exist when evaluating a cow for purchase.

Under most situations a well managed operation should be able to achieve a higher genetic base. A strong commitment to prop er nutrition, breeding and disease control are good management practices. The genetic base can be defined as the inherited ability of a herd to produce milk. Under conditions a cow should have a longer pro-ductive life. With a poor environment, cows tend to be under very stressful conditions. This situation could lead to rapid culling of good cows. High producers are generally more suscep-tible to mastitis, infertility. milk fever, etc. Manage-ment should reduce these problems. The genetic gain in a herd will be reduced if culling is geared towards physical unsoundness physical unsoundness rather than milk output Unfortunately, there are contradictions to this theory. Some research has indicated that a plus cow in a low producing herd will quite often be a larger plus in a high producing herd The better managed cow has a greater chance to tial. A superior cow in a low producing herd usually is closer to herd average than under good conditions.

The dairyman's breeding program or plan also helps determine the genetic base of the herd. All dairy breeds have a wide cross section of available sires to choose from. Individual biases greatly increase or reduce genetic potential. The myth about "burned out" three year olds is an example. If only production is stressed, the herd average will increase rapidly. Some con-formation traits may be lowered with this philoso phy. If type or fat test is stressed d, production will under most situasuffer tions. Even with low em placed on milk production, half the milking cows will produce plus records. The average pedi-gree index within a herd ould give an indication of the genetic base. P.I. one half sire's milk proof plus one quarter maternal grand sire's milk proof. If the average Pedigree Index within a herd is below plus seven for milk, production has not been stressed. This is an arbitrary figure, generally the higher the index the greater genetic base.

The plus cow can be an important criteria for selecindividual will not perform equally in all herds. The seller's breeding and man-agement practices greatly influence the cow's future performance

'Ounce' of prevention can get more fish

The obvious sign of a good fisherman is the fish he catches. The angler who catches his limit holds an awful lot of credibility.

But there are other signs of the experienced angler. Two of them are how he treats his tackle and how he uses it. Any angler worth his salt knows that care and preparation of equipment will pay off.

One of the most important elements of a comfortable base camp is something you can take care of before you ever leave home. That in-volves the choice of your base camp cooler or ice chest— your refrigerator-freezer away from home.

Most experienced campers have learned that the best way to handle base camp cooler requirements is to do their planning around one, maybe two, large coolers such as the Thermos 96-quart size plastic ice chest. This cooler weigh: only 18 pounds itself but wil hold several days' worth o meats, ice, soft drinks, and other items that need to be kept cool.

Experienced campers will Experienced campers with then supplement this large "base-cooler" with one or two smaller coolers such as the lightweight Thermos 35-quart coolers, or the even more compact "Sun-packer" or "6-necker" "6-packer

This makes it possible to keep the large cooler at camp where it serves as the central storage and use the smaller cooler(s) to take on daily ex-often, helping to keep perish-ables cool for long periods. But the greatest feature of the "base cooler game plan" is that it allows members of the group to take separate day trips, packing their day's requirements in a smaller, light-weight cooler, while leaving the base cooler in camp for those who might elect to stay

On fishing trips, in particu-lar, the smaller coolers may come in handy for keeping fish cool for the trip home—if you are lucky enough to catch more fish than you eat in

given time

If your children start asking, "Are we there yet?" and you haven't even backed completely out of the driveway, you've got "Traveling-With-The Kids Syndrome." But there is help. A visit to a local, well-stocked toy store can net you a wealth of games suitable for almost every age group. Make sure the games you select do not have mess-inducing and easily-lost west.

There are games you can develop yourself that will provide lots of fun at no cost. A pad of paper and a pencil for each child should always be packed.

Auto and truck license plate game

Auto and truck license plates are the main staple of many games. If your children aren't at the reading age, colors can form the game's basis.

Choose a color at random, and the first child who spots a plate with that color wins that round. Continue selecting colorisal long as you wish to keep the game going. If your children can read, then you can select state names as the basis for plate identification. Again, the first one to spot the correct state wins. Or you can select a state and time limit, and the child who spots the most plates bearing the chosen state name in the allored time wins.

You can also choose a time period (keep them reasonably short, to match your children's attention span), and the child who spots the largest number of different states in the time period wins.

As a child spots a new state, he can write the name on his or her pad—and practice writing or printing skills at the same time.

You can also select numbers or letters—or a combi-

bers or letters—or a combi-nation of both—for license plate identification games. One of the best ways to keep interest in travel high is to get your children involved in the trip.

Rest stops important

Make those rest-stops important. Find things the children can do to "help mointy and daddy." Litter bags can always use emptying. And an inquisitive son or daughter can always help daddy get gas. A daughter can accompany mommy to the rest room to "freshen up" and then help pick up cool drinks from a shack bar.

A properly instructed shack bar.

A properly instructed child, of the appropriate age, can even be shown how to check engine oil, battery water, and tire air pressure—three necksary items to check on a trip, and sure to check on a trip.

If one or all of your children can read, providing them with a map (one for each child, to avoid conflicts) can do much to hold their interest.

One of the most importa

One of the most important things to remember when trying to maintain "travel travjulity" is not to fall victim to the children's tendency to become more active with increased boredom. If you suddenly find a squabble going on in the back seat, don't get into the act and make it worse by raising your voice. Get their attention and explain that they are getting too loud and to please calm down.

Get them involved

Again, get them involved. Let them know that peace and tranquility are necessary for a safe, happy trip for all. Although frequent stops seem a waste of time for the adult in a firry, five-minute stops at the roadside can do If more than one child is involved, they can take turns alerting you to the next up-coming city. "Daddy, Tim-berville is the next town we 'come to. The sign says it's five miles, away and I see it on the man." stops at the roadside can do more for children's behavior than a half-hour lunch stop.

Take a minute or two with them to point out a distant mountain, a plant, flower, tree, or grass they may not see or some other little interesting thing along the Comic books and books of Comic books and books of light reading material can also-occupy a child. Of spe-cial interest would be books that simply and invitingly tell about the area you're driving through or which tell about your destination.

Besides that, it's embar-rassing for the unfortunate beater who gets caught in this difficult position.

While we can't all steer a trailer backwards with the skill and finesse of a profes-sional truck driver, we can learn to do the job with a min_a imum of disruption to others imum of disruption to others who are trying to launch and retrieve their boats.

The key to successful trailer backing, according to Mercury Outboards' boating experts, is to remember that "left" goes "right" and vice

In other words, if you want your boat to go right, steer your auto as though you were going left. This pushes the back of the vehicle to the left, along with the tongue of the trailer, causing the trailer wheels to act as a pivot and moving the boat toward the

Once you've started the trailer moving in the direction you intend to go, straighten out the tow vehicle's wheels and place the auto on the same path as the trailer.

Steering is easier if you hold the wheel at the bottom. That way you can turn the wheel in the direction you want the trailer to go, and you'll be doing it correctly.

Don't try to back too quickly; this is not a time for speed. Go slowly and be pre-pared to stop if you are mov-ing in the wrong direction. If the rig jackknifes, pull for-ward, straighten up and start

Practice makes perfect, and backing a boat trailer is no exception. Find an unused-parking lot, spend 30 minutes learning the technique, and you'll back down the ramp like a pro next time you go boating. boating (4)

No matter what your quarry, you can go where the game is and still enjoy all of your necessary comforts in a Shista camping trailer. Lightweight and easy to tow, it can be sin in a matter of minutes to provide convenient kitchen and steeping arrangements as well as protection from any weather.

Do your own thing

The clamor of ducks at pre-dawn, the first sighting of whispering wings overhead and the scramble through thickets for grouse or pheas ant...you want to enjoy the sights and sounds of your chosen recreation.

OUTDOOR LIVING

Keep fishing with this easy do-it-yourself repair job

One of the most common problems spin-cast anglers ex-perience is line behind the spinnerhead. It's usually caused by attempting to wind loose line back on the spool. Twisted line can also cause this problem.

What happens is the line

what happens is the line balloons out, creeps around and back of the spinnerhead and wraps itself around the shaft. Another cause for this problem is wifiding loose line backwards.

Regardless of the culture

Regardless of the culprit, learn to fix the problem when it happens. You'll save the time your reel would spend in the reel hospital and you'll get back to fishing fast.

back to fishing fast.

The reel pictured below features a twist-off spinnerhead. Some spincast reels use a nut on top of the shaft to hold the spinnerhead. The only difference in the repair of the two is the manner of spin-nerhead removal. On the nut-ype, simply remove the nut and pull the spinnerhead straight off.

1. Loosen cover lock screw with screwdriver or coin.

2. Remove front cover by turning counterclockwise

3. Take reel in hand with handle situated as illustrated, so it will not turn during spinnerhead removal. Remove a sincerhead by turning counterclockwise. If soinnerhead is tight, make the start of the removal turn an abrupt one in order to break it loose, or tag the edge with the handle of a screwdriver.

maining line on spool is not wound too loosely or if there are any snarts. If so, replace with new spool of Zebco line, or strip off old line and

6. If old line is all right, pull

7. Replace spinnerhead bacrewing on clockwise

Anticipation is key to enjoyment

Quality of experiences grows with enthusiastic participation

By CHUCK ROBERTS

While for most persons, desire, enthusiasm and interest in outdoor activities blossom each year with the cheerteader anticipation of new things to do, and the re-do of the old, there are others now who are retreating from the Great Outdoors.

They're the ones who stay home more and more, because "it's not the way it was," rather than admitting "we're not the way we were."

There are many words written today about "job burnout" in the offices and factories of our nation. And for whatever reason or degree of reason, the same thing is occurring with many in their pursuit of the good times they once enjoyed in the Great Outdoors.

Outdoors.

The quality of their experiences, present and maybe last week, is not as once remembered. Not anymore as once when the good old days were conjured up often, amid remembrances of a double on a covey rise, or a basket of big bass. Or a great camping trip. Or a photo which no longer retains the magnetism for daily glances, of the impromptu re-creation of that photo's magnetic ingredients.

Necessary enthusiasm

What to many once brought, now there are no new nations to conquer, or places to see. Or ducks or deer, bobwhite, quail or takes to many one load up the car and go in pursuit of them. For many of those who have slowly and sileatly excused themselves from the Great Outdoors, there is a feeling that all that is to be done, has been done; that they have seen and done all that they as a person can expect to the singular than the fill;

they as a person can expect to have seen and one an man they as a person can expect to say grace over.

While it is true that nothing is the way it wat—including yesterday—the quality of the Great Outdoors is actually greater today than even yesterday—but it is incongruous to believe that today's Great Outdoors can still and again be enjoyed by those with the wanning interest, unless those persons witness' a quality experience, or have reason enough to create a desire strong enough to seduce them once again into participating in what they once enjoyed.

one word that must be considered, dissected and sewn back together with the adhesive understanding that it belies. The word is anticipation.

Anticipation means that the chase is greater than the kill; that the chase is greater than the conquest. It means that not catching a fish doesn't mean to having a quality time. But rather that quality time is built of the blocks of anticipation. In preparation. Of skill in the use of equipment. Of watching and observing, Of sharing someone else's fish.

Quality is anticipation. And the conting of the low, red glow of a new morning. And the coming to life of that outboard, and the anticipation of what it will bring throughout the day. A quality experience.

And the striking of a match as coals are prepared to later accept the ingredients for a camp cookout is anticipation. So is the opening for the first time of a box of shotgun shells. For those shells, them-selves, as each is taken from the box and loaded, is anticipation.

And so is the simple loading of a camera in the anticipation of a particular photo that's not been taken, but should have been, many years ago. The special picture that finally will be taken. But remember, it starts with the loading of the film. Or for that matter, with the purchase of that roll of film, and the anticipation of what it will do.

What it will do.

Way we were

Simply, it's sitting down, and thinking about it. And admitting that "we're not the way we were," but deciding there really are all to freasons in the Great Outdoors, to be once again the way we were.
But probably different, now.
And that may mean a new and different approach to what we once did. And enjoyed. It may mean that quality in a fishing trip is more now the watching of a youngster's bobber go under, than catch-ing it yourself. That's antici-pation. Or learning to take a picture, rather than enjoying someone else's. Or maybe rekindling the someone else's.

Or maybe rekinding the hunting urge by starting the season a year early with a small puppy, capable of chewing up anything that doesn't chew him. Watching him grow and learn, and one day point a sparrow in the backyard, and knowing then that he will do that next year in the field for you. That's anticipation.

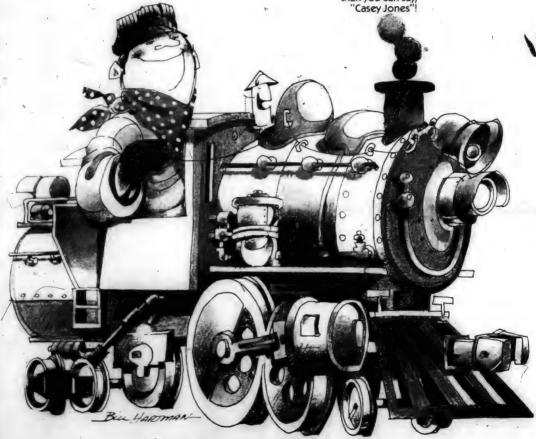

Consider elements

It's considering all the ele-ments that melt down into making a day shorter in what-ever activity might be chosen. Because there is no day as good as a short day...nor a long as a bad day. Not in time measured, but rather in time remembered. It's really a mat-ter of choice.

to the zest of the world as language skills develop. The toddler is learning that each and every object in his nment has a name. and that he is no exception It is this principal that the toddler who insists he is Doug Murray" as opposed to Casey Jones (even though he is wearing a railway engineer k disguise) one's name is the single most important component of the self-concept. The apparent confusion of the face of a toddler when they are introduced to someone with the same name tells us name is to their self-con cept. One way for a toddler to resolve this problem is to use both given and sur-names, ie that's Catharine Clark I'm Catherine Miller Forgetting mispronouncing or joking about a child's name is the easiest way to offend them. When parents select a name for their child they are in fact introd certain associations, charac teristics and meaning to their child's self-concept (eg. names of famous people (Mary, Pierre), atractive natual phenomer (Dawn) or admired qualities (lov. Faith)).

Gender labels, ie boy or rl, are the next verbal labels that are associated with one's self-concept. Research has shown that as Research has shown that as early as 2-3 years of age, toddlers can apply gender labels appropriately and are aware of the sterotypes associated with male and female sex-role behavior

Just as the shild learns that every object has a name, he learns that there for intangible are "names" for intangible feeling, relationships, etc. Through this process the self-concept grows to en-compass the toddler's personal view of how the 'inner' child related to the outside world. For example the recognition of personal possessions and the work "mine" is evidence of a self awareness. The child who does not see himself as a separate agent will insist on ownership Re searchers have suggested that the balance between mine ness" and the ability to share in a child's behavior is indicative of his understanding of the self concept. In other words, the child who is just beginning differentiate may see virtually every object as either "mine

One of the many fine products made from Ontario tomatoes is juice. Market-ing specialists at the On-Ministry of Agriculture and Food tell us that there are more than 10 companies in Ontario making juice with Ontario tomatoes

Basically, two types juices are made from the tomatoes: pure tomato juice and mixed vegetable juice. Pure tomato juice is extracted from ripe tomatoes. No water is added. Salt or sagar may be blended in as the juice is being made, but these ingredients will be listed on the label if they're

Mixed vegetable juice is made from a tomato base The exact recipes are trade secrets, but they are gencrally made from lots of omatoes and a variety of other vegetables. The ingredients are listed on the label and will vary with

Alongside the "mine" concept the "me" concept is developing. Here we refer to the familiar "let me do it" "let me try". "It's my turn", "I can do it". Each and every one of these experiences presents an opportunity for the toddler to hone his self-concept. Success is certainly associated with good feelings about one's abilities and is likely to build a positive self-concept. Continuous defeat or discouragement. on the other hand, is likely to result in the opposite.

During this continuous interaction with people and things in the environment the toddler is becoming increasingly sensitive to the social components of the self-concept seeing your-self as others see you. It has been spid that children been spid that become what we tell them they are. This suggests that the characteristics we attribute to children are likely to he included in, if not form a core of the child's self-con-cept. It is clear that being
